King aide says Ray not guilty

PHILADELPHIA — The Rev. James L. Bevel, a director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and a longtime associate of late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has offered to defend Dr. King's accused assassin.

REV. JAMES L. BEVEL

Mr. Bevel's administrative assistant, Beverly Sterner, said Monday that she had sent a telegram containing the offer to James Earl Ray, who is awaiting trial in the murder of the civil rights leader. Mr. Bevel, she said, maintains he has "such evidence that would prove James Earl Ray innocent."

He said that the offer was not meant to be taken as a symbol gesture blaming white racism rather than Ray personally for the murder. "This is a serious offer," she said.

She said Mr. Bevel would make his evidence known in court. He is not a lawyer, she said.

Real estate brokers hold joint confab

Measures submitted to the General Assembly concerning changes in laws regarding the licensing of real estate brokers and a housing policy statement were discussed in a recent meeting of officials of the Indianapolis Real Estate Board with officials of the Indianapolis Real Estate Brokers Assn.

Officials representing the Indianapolis Real Estate Board were: W. A. Brennan, president and Jack McMahon, executive secretary. Grady B. Hinkle, president and Walter W. Johnson, vice president, were representatives of the Indianapolis Real Estate Brokers Assn.

Flanner House places new bus in operation

A new sixty-six passenger bus equipped with a telephone "bell boy" hook up and public address system was put into service this week by the Flanner House, local nationally known social service institution.

The bus a gift of Lilly Foundation Inc., will replace a "worn out" forty-passenger bus and "will be invaluable in increasing our efforts to serve the needs of the disadvantaged and the inner city," Dr. Cleo W. Blackburn, executive director of the Flanner House observed.

Purchase of the bus is the second recent step made by the Flanner House in extending its services to the disadvantaged.

Attacks extends night school registration

Registration for evening classes at Crispus Attucks High School, 1140 N. West, will be continued through Friday, January 30, according to announcement made by Charles D. Walker.

Classes for this semester began Wednesday night, January 22 and included regular high school, vocational, homemaking and business education.

Walker, evening school director, said that 34 students completed requirements for graduation Thursday, January 16 and he expects an additional 45 students to finish at the commencement to be held Thursday May 15.

Doctors say rape sus, mentally ill

A 20-year-old Northside resident held on charges of robbery, burglary and rape should be committed to a mental institution for treatment, according to two doctors at Central State Hospital for the Mentally Ill.

The suspect, Michael Hardy, 237 Berkley Road, is accused in the Sept. 23 attack upon a prominent Northside housewife and mother of five.

According to Drs. John U. Keating and T.C. Toops, Hardy, also suspected of 16 other rapes, was given a psychiatric examination which indicated a mental disorder and fitted the legal definition of a criminal, sexual psychopath.

The doctors recommended Hardy to be committed for treatment.

Watch Nixon on 'school issue' Wilkins urges

NEW YORK.—The executive director of the NAACP, Roy Wilkins, reporting to the recent NAACP corporate meeting observed that the organization will keep a close eye on the Nixon administration's policy toward school desegregation under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

"If there is one place where the new Nixon administration must be watched like a hawk," he said, "it is on this issue of the enforcement of the law on school desegregation. Certain advisors are pressing Mr. Nixon to turn his back, to look the other way, to forget Title VI, to forget guidelines for school desegregation, to abdicate federal responsibility for the enforcement of federal laws and to leave all such matters to the states."

To leave school desegregation to the slow processes of state action would, Mr. Wilkins said, "be another kind of gas oven for the minds and bodies of blacks and for the spirits of whites."

"In the new administration in Washington," he said, "our political acumen will be tested. It is us and our cause (which is also America's cause) against powerful forces that helped elect Mr. Nixon. If we are wise, we will fashion a big stick out of our votes, watching carefully and talking softly—just in case."

Last rites held for man killed in an accident

Funeral services for Willie Dowdell, 30, 1242 W. 19th, who died Jan. 15 as the result of an auto accident, were held Jan. 20 at Union Baptist Church. Burial was in Woodhaven Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mr. Dowdell was traveling northeast on Kentucky at about 30 to 35 miles and hour when his car veered into the bridge abutment, according to police. There were no skid marks, indicating Mr. Dowdell did not apply his brakes before the crash.

Mr. Dowdell was an employee of Boyer's Concrete Company and a member of Westwood Baptist Church. He was native of Opelika, Ala., and had resided here since 1951.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sarah Weems Dowdell; a daughter, Linda Dowdell, and four sons, Dwayne, Donald, Gregory and Mark Dowdell; his mother, Mrs. Mary Dowdell.

Prostitution thriving in Indiana Avenue area

NIXON MEETS WITH BLACK LEADERS: President Richard M. Nixon (center) is shown meeting with black national leaders in New York last week. The leaders in attendance were Rev. Jesse Jackson, Hobson R. Reynolds, Elk leader; Rev. Ralph Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Nathan Wright, John H. Johnson, editor and publisher of Ebony Magazine; and John H. Murphy III, president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association and the AFRO American Newspapers, Inc. President Nixon said the meeting would be the first of many to development communications between his administration and black America. Roy Wilkins of the NAACP was invited but could not attend.

Racial segregation in schools decreases

During the past three years the amount of racial segregation in the Indianapolis public schools has decreased measurably. This is particularly noticeable among high schools all 11 of which have pupils of both races in 1968. The primary needs are for more white pupils at Tech, Shortridge and Attucks and more black pupils at Howe and Marshall high schools.

Among the 110 elementary schools the number with complete segregation of whites dropped from 34 in 1965 to 18 in 1968 while the number with complete segregation of blacks dropped from 7 to 6. The percentage of Negro pupils in segregated schools dropped in the three years from 18% to 14% while white pupils attending segregated schools dropped from 41% to 25%. Eight percent or one twelfth of the city's white pupils attend schools where black pupils outnumber white pupils.

There has been little change in the number of schools that might be considered racially balanced, schools in which Negro pupils

Crime blotter features woundings, sex attacks

Violence, especially cuttings and shootings, plagued Indianapolis during the past seven days, landing several suspects in jail and leading police in search of others.

Arrested Sunday morning on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill was Mrs. Susie Tate, 26, 2023 N. Alabama. She was taken into custody after her husband, Willie Tate, 23, same address, told police she stabbed him during an argument.

Police summoned to the couple's home around 4 a.m. found Tate suffering from a stab wound in the chest. He was treated at General Hospital.

Another stabbing victim sent to General Hospital Sunday was Arthur Davis, 29, 2259 Talbot. He allegedly suffered wounds in the right side and right arm at the hands of a relative.

He told police his 22-year-old brother-in-law, Willie B.

NAACP opposes units segregated in colleges

NEW YORK.—The proposals of some Negro students for the establishment of autonomous black studies centers with separate dormitories and facilities within existing colleges and universities constitute an effort to return to discredited Jim Crow practices, NAACP executive director Roy Wilkins charged in his report to the annual corporate meeting of the NAACP.

If, he warned, "some white Americans, torn and confused by today's clamor of some black students, should accede officially to the call for separate dormitories and autonomous racial schools within colleges and universities, there will be court action to determine anyone's right to use public tax funds to set up what are, patently, Jim Crow schools.

Mr. Wilkins made it clear that the NAACP does not oppose and in fact advocates, the study of Negro history and culture for all students. It opposes the establishment of separate, exclusively black centers.

"We of the NAACP cannot permit a minority of less than 3 percent, regardless of how vocal, to plunge 22 millions of black Americans into the valley of proscription and deprivation," he said. "This report today does not chronicle unalloyed success; the spiritual and materials needs remain

Southern black elected officials meet in Ga.

ATLANTA — There are 380 black public officials in the 11 states of the old Confederacy now, about 310 more than there were before the 1965

U.S. Voting Law was passed. But even the black elected officials are over-exultant about their new power, although they most certainly are engaged in drives to elect as many more black officials at all government levels as possible.

The elected Negro officials met here last week in a conference called and sponsored by the Southern Regional Council's Voter Education Project and the atmosphere at the meeting was one of apprehensiveness over the failure of the white community to fully cooperate with them in their new responsibilities.

Most of the black elected officials who met seemed very dedicated to the task of correcting the inequities in public services to Negroes and the poor in Southern communities. Lawrence T. Guyot of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party sums it up earthily by saying: "Prejudice is a bitch. And the political bitch that spawned southern politics is in heat again."

Guyot, who has been described as a bullishly energetic and concise, was talking about the gross problems, both of correcting the official neglect which was the custom in many places for hundreds of years and of fighting at the same level, the new stumbling blocks which white racists with power

Dr. King's widow holds audience with Pope Paul VI

ROME.—Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., widow of the slain civil rights leader, in Europe on a 11-day trip to accept awards in Italy and India was scheduled to have a private audience with Pope Paul VI on Monday of this week.

Last week-end, Saturday, the City of Verona, Italy, presented its 10th annual San Valentino Award to Mrs. King as a person "typifying universal love and understanding."

She was the first non-Italian ever to receive the award. Verona is the home city of San Valentino, or St. Valentine, a 4th Century Christian martyr who came to symbolize love.

Following the scheduled audience with Pope Paul, Mrs. King was scheduled to fly to New Delhi, India to accept on behalf of her late husband the Jawaharlal Nehru Award for International Understanding.

The Nehru Award was named for the late Indian, disciple of the nonviolent leader Mahatma Gandhi. The award will be presented by President Zakir Husain of India, the award carries a cash prize of about $13,000.

While in India Mrs. King will be guest of honor at a luncheon given by President Nussain and by the Prime Minister of India, Mrs. Indira. Mrs. King is also scheduled to participate in the celebration of India's Republic Day on the invitation of President Husain, on Jan. 26.

Million voters registered in NAACP drive

NEW YORK.—Conducting voter registration campaigns in 220 areas of 29 states in 1968, the NAACP registered more than 1,170,000 Negro people to vote, Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP announced here at a recent organizational meeting.

Mr. Wilkins cited the work of John Brooks and W.C. Patton, voter registration and voter education specialists. Costs for maintaining the voter registration program represents one of the major items on the annual NAACP budget and it is reported to be the largest effort of its kind over the land.

Mr. Patton in his report to the national offices, noted that "participation (South) is on the upsurge" and in the South alone, there are 378 elected Negro officials who owe

Alleged murder suspect nabbed in Los Angeles

Police in Los Angeles, early this week arrested Harry C. Jackson, age 30, 4256 Fairview Terrace, sought in connection with the slaying Dec. 21, of Anderson Woodson, age 31, 1337 N. Bell St.

Woodson who had been shot with a small caliber revolver was wounded behind the left ear. He was found in an automobile on a near-Northside vacant lot by two employees of the Indianapolis Power & Light Company.

Local police officers went to Los Angeles to return Jackson here this week after he signed a waiver of extradition. He was held in the Los Angeles County jail.

Rise noted after 'strip' crackdown

Since the police crackdown on vice activities in the area surrounding the so-called Meridian Street "strip" prostitution and related vice activities have been increasing at an alarming rate in the Indiana Avenue area.

At least a score of regular girls, both black and white, can be observed hailing cars and picking up prospects along the Avenue on any given night. On week-ends the traffic picks up considerably.

Ironically, even though hardly a night passes without the arrests of several alleged prostitutes on various vice charges, the women who frequent the Avenue seemingly ply their trade with little, if any, police interference.

"The area is fast becoming a mecca for the Indianapolis Avenue of two decades ago when the Avenue was the center of Negro night life and also regarded as 'headquarters' of the city's vice activities."

At that time the Avenue was clustered with night clubs and "women of the night" found lucrative pickings from among the Negro club patrons and from whites who journeyed to the Avenue for the specific purpose of picking up Negro women.

As integration progressed, the Negro social life began to move away from the Avenue and the clubs began to fold. With fewer prospects to draw from, coupled with increased police surveillance the prostitutes drifted away from the Avenue.

While in recent years prostitution has continued on a minor

Action awaited in case of a youth shot by policeman

An aroused Indianapolis black community awaits the next step in the case in which an Indianapolis policeman, officer Steven R. Schacht, shot a youth, 15-year-old Michael McElwain.

The matter went before the police board of captains last Friday and that group found that the shooting was justified finding that the youth was lawfully shot because he was believed by the shooting officer to be an escaping felon. Court charges against McElwain equal disorderly conduct (a misdemeanor) and resisting arrest (another misdemeanor).

Citizens wonder whether the matter will go next to the Board of Safety or into federal court. Many remember that the Board of Safety has seemed "pro-police" in most of its past instances of hearing charges leveled by blacks against Indianapolis policemen, but they look to see what the influence of the newly appointed member, Dr. Ruben White, will be if this matter comes on for hearing by the three-member safety board.

Fear council districts maybe gerrymandered

The Indianapolis Negro community continued to express "grave concern" over the proposed unified government ("unigov") bill now before the state legislature.

Under the terms of the proposed legislation introduced in the state Senate Tuesday by Senator Lawrence M. Borst, chairman of the Senate's Affairs of Marion County Committee, most of Marion County would be combined under a central government headed by a county-wide mayor and a 25-member council.

Most objections from the Negro community center around the fact that Mayor Lugar, principal architect of the measure, has failed to spell out just how the proposed council districts would be drawn to insure Negroes adequate representation on the council.

However, it has also been charged in some circles that the main purpose of the measure was to eliminate the possibility of a Negro being elected mayor at some future date as happened Gary where Negroes make up more than 50 per cent of the population.

In its present form, the bill provides for county-wide metropolitan government to be headed by a mayor and a 25-member council.

Under the measure, Marion County, with the exception of Lawrence, Beech Grove and Speedway, would be divided into 20 separate council districts. Each district would elect one member to the council — with five councilmen being elected at large.

Negroes make up roughly 20 per cent of the county population and the general fear among Negroes is that the council would be gerrymandered in such a way that Negro representation on the council would be kept at a minimum.

Also, it was pointed out, the power of the Negro vote would be minimized under a county-wide government.

"Practical politics now dictates that political aspirants in Indianapolis, whether they be Democrats or Republicans, make definite overtures to the Negro community."

"Unigov would preclude the necessity for any special concern for the problems confronting the Negro and it is theoretically possible that the Negro may well be abandoned," one opponent to the plan emphasized.

"In fact," the spokesman noted, "the thing could work just the other way. Take sensitive areas, like open housing for instance, sympathetic members of the council and even the mayor would be afraid of the white backlash—hence no action would

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — People who say "sock it to me!" are going through a phrase.

Such catchwords are an important part of daily communications and "sock it to me" meets the need until a new phrase comes along, two Indiana University professors say.

"I don't know what 'sock it to me' means," says Dr. Owen Thomas, English professor and textbook author. "It could mean any number of things and because of this it says something we all want to say but can't. Therefore the expression serves a useful purpose. We need things like this."

"Sock it to me" joins a long list of popular words and phrases which were once the mark of the "in" group, Dr. Thomas believes. Among its predecessors are such oldies as "23 skidoo," "So's yer old man," "Your father's mustache," "The cat's pajamas," and "Wanna buy a duck?"

Dr. Sheldon Stryker, director of the I.U. Institute of Social Research and professor of sociology, sees a sociological significance in popular phrases.

"Every generation has these words and phrases," Dr. Stryker says. "I think they're inevitable. If we didn't have them, they would have to be invented. Not to have them would presume a type of thing where you have explicit use of four-letter words for shock purposes. It's a sort of sticking-the-toe-in-the-water kind of thing instead of hit-'em-over-the-head kind of approach."

Dr. Stryker asserts that there has always been an insider's language. Private language serves as more than a status indicator. It is used to protect knowledge of a specialized sort. Dr. Stryker gives an example:

"Surely the technical language of a lawyer prevents a layman from adopting a very critical attitude toward law and its practices. The layman just doesn't know enough of the distinctions that are important to the law to be critical in his orientation."

"Whenever we move into another society, our understanding is limited. We may know the words but we don't know the language. One must be a participant in a culture for some time in order to understand the language."

Language presents a real difficulty for sociologists doing work in other societies. There is a good deal of work going on among sociologists to try and deal with this kind of problem."

Aside from technical usage by specialized groups, language is very flexible. This is the way it should be, Dr. Thomas thinks.

In what may seem heretical, coming from a teacher of English, Dr. Thomas makes these observations:

"I don't think there is any particular purpose served by trying to define precisely every word that everybody is going to use. It can't be done in the first place. The nature of language is such that certain words can never be defined precisely and absolutely."

The aesthetics of language is also considered by Dr. Thomas, who says:

"If there were uniformity of language, it would presume a uniform society and I personally wouldn't like that."

Like its predecessors, "sock it to me" will sink into linguistic oblivion and the next generation may find the saying as quaint as "Beat me daddy, eight to the bar."

Because of its wide use, helped along by television's Laugh-In program, "sock it to me" may have a shorter span of popularity than some other catchwords. Dr. Thomas explains:

"When something has a metaphorical meaning and we use it too many times it loses its impact. Then it becomes a cliché. Clichés, however, serve a useful function. They grease the ways of life."

The use of specialized words and phrases is common in most societies, according to Dr. Stryker. Any group, he says, has a private language which defines membership in the group. This language defines who belongs and who is an outsider, he points out.

"Sock it to me" is used to assert that one is young, modern, swinging, in with things and alive to happenings in the world," Dr. Stryker says. "To some degree, those of us who are older pick up this phrase to assert that we too are young, alive, and not really old fogies or squares."

There is another aspect of "sock it to me" which has sociological connotations, Dr. Stryker says. This and some other phrases and words in current usage have sexual overtones, he believes.

"In this respect, for the young to use these words is to be a little daring," Dr. Stryker says. "It's a put-down for the older generation. It's a sort of minor form of free speech."

"Language is man's most precious possession. Without it man wouldn't be man. If a man is proud of himself at all — if he is going to enjoy himself — he's got to enjoy language. Poetry is language at its best."

Dr. Thomas believes expressions like "sock it to me" are poetic in a sense that, like poetry, they convey a meaning that can't be conveyed any other way.

Bell to spend record figure on improvements

The Indiana Bell Telephone Company will spend $83.9 million during 1969 to expand and improve service, Thomas S. Nurnberger, president, said recently.

The figure, a record one, is up 23.5 percent over spending during 1968 when the construction program totaled about $67.9 million.

More than $73 million of the 1969 construction money is earmarked for central office equipment, telephones and cable facilities, Mr. Nurnberger said, as the company continues to meet the growing communications needs of the territory it serves.

Indiana Bell expects to add another 80,000 telephones during 1969 to the approximately 1,440,000 it had in service at the end of 1968, Mr. Nurnberger pointed out. Some 79,500 telephones were added to the IBT total last year.

"GOLD PLATTER": Singer James Brown, one of the world's most popular and successful entertainers, announced last week the formation of a new company, Gold Platter, Inc., which will operate and franchise a chain of fast food restaurants throughout the U.S. and in Caribbean areas, under the trade name, "James Brown's Gold Platter."

National YMCA Week observed

The Young Men's Christian Association of Greater Indianapolis, along with over 2,000 other YMCA's throughout the United States, is celebrating National YMCA Week, this week, January 19 through 26.

The local celebration is marking One Hundred and Fifteen Years of service by the YMCA to Indianapolis. The Indianapolis YMCA was founded December 12, 1854.

The YMCA's in the United States in the past 20 years have doubled their membership to a record 3,900,000 to become one of the fastest growing private, non-governmental, non-profit membership organizations in the country. The Greater Indianapolis YMCA serves approximately 50,000 members to rank 13th among all cities in the United States.

Special Events, scheduled for the week long celebration, have involved 288 churches in Indianapolis, who have given recognition to the local YMCA through special presentations during worship services or through the use of the YMCA Church Bulletins.

The following officers were elected to serve on the board of directors for the YMCA of Greater Indianapolis for the year 1969: C. Perry

Griffith, president; Max S. Danner, vice-president; Henry Holt Jr., vice-president; Eugene F. Ratliff, vice-president; Gerald M. Wadleigh, vice-president; Richard D. Cobb, treasurer; Sanford P. Hunter, assistant treasurer, and John P. Price, secretary and legal counsel. Elected to serve as branch board chairman for a one-year term beginning January were Smith H. Cheatham, Fall Creek Family YMCA; William J. Buckley, Baxter Family YMCA; James L. Kittle, Central YMCA; Harry L. Bennett, Eastside Family YMCA; W. Frank Parrish Jr., Flat Rock Camp YMCA; Doyle Zaring, Intercollegiate; Robert E. Dickinson, Jordan Family YMCA; Mrs. P. Stanley Lewis, Krannert Family YMCA and Dr. W. ## Johnson's civil rights achievements reflect unprecedented determination

"The Great Society rests on abundance and liberty for all. It demands an end to poverty and racial injustice. . . But that is just a beginning."

In these clear, unmistakable terms, the 36th President of the United States bared his blueprint for an administration designed to assimilate all citizens into the mainstream of American life.

The towering Texan set about the task of relieving domestic ills with a determination and zeal that accorded him victory after victory in the area of civil rights and adjacent fields to insure equal opportunities for minority groups.

The gallant fight waged by President Lyndon Baines Johnson and his Administration has now been consumed by the inevitable march of time and now belong to history.

Useless to say many goals set by President Johnson in the field of human justice have yet to be realized but the unprecedented thrusts made by him will stand as a tribute to the Chief Executive who went further than any of his predecessors in striving for Civil Rights.

He won the admiration of black leaders and liberal whites and stunned—at times even infuriated and alienated—Southern conservative politicians of both parties. Congress often responded to his cries by seeking to "water down" such legislation he backed or introduced and the constant cry from the black community was "more, more" or "not enough."

In the end though, they all must join in homage to Johnson, now deservant of all the accolades due a true champion of human justice, a rights fighter and a man who sought to be President of all the people.

His brilliant record speaks for itself:

CIVIL RIGHTS:
1964—A lengthy, tedious and bitter Congressional fight, marked by many "firsts," produced the most powerful civil rights act to emerge from Capitol Hill.

It struck out inequities in public accommodations and facilities, education, employment and federally assisted programs. In addition it empowered the Attorney General to intervene in federal court action involving civil rights cases, extended the Civil Rights Commission and ordered a survey of voting procedures.

1965—New voting rights act is signed into law. Among other things it banned poll taxes and literacy tests, often blocks for Negroes seeking to register in Southern states.

1968—Civil rights workers gained new federal protection under a new act.

Sweeping fair housing law is signed.

CITIES:

Antipoverty Campaign: Begun in 1964 with the Economic Opportunity Act and a one-year authorization of just under $1 billion, stepped up greatly in later years with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Department of Labor and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, set up in 1965, increasingly involved.

MODEL CITIES:

Act of 1966 proposing grants to cities, supplemental to those available from other Federal sources, to fight urban problems in the most blighted areas, including housing, health, education, jobs, welfare, transportation and public facilities. Funded with $312 million in the fiscal year 1968, its appropriation has been doubled for the coming year.

RENT SUPPLEMENTS:

Started in 1966 to provide better housing for low-income families, funded far below administration requests.

EDUCATION:

Elementary Schools: Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965, strengthened in 1966, providing stepped up aid to 100 per cent of school districts in 1970 for quality education, including text books for public and private schools, with a $9.2 billion authorization for the next two years.

Higher Education: Act of 1965 providing liberal loans, scholarship and facility construction money.

Teacher Corps: Act of 1965 to train teachers for work in slum and ghetto areas.

Aid to Poor: Educational Opportunity Act of 1968 to help poor to go to college.

Adult Education: Act of 1968.

JOB OPPORTUNITY: Training: Manpower Development and Training Act of 1964 to qualify persons for new and better jobs.

Job Corps: Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 setting up Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps and new careers programs.

Business: Job opportunities in the business sector, which, under the leadership of the National Alliance of Businessmen, seeks 500,000 jobs for hard-core unemployed.

Appalachia: Program of 1965 seeking economic development and jobs in 11-state economically depressed area.

Wages: Increase in minimum wage by 35 cents to $1.60.

HEALTH:

Medicare: Set up in 1965, provides insurance for 20 million citizens at 65 under the Social Security system to cover hospital and doctor costs.

Medicaid: Act of 1965, providing medical care for the needy, with 7.7 million people in 43 states now getting aid.

Immunization: Program for preschool children against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and measles, under which, for example, the annual incidence of measles dropped from 450,000 to 62,000 last year.

Health Centers: Heart, cancer and stroke regional diagnostic and treatment centers.

Child Health: Improvement and Protection Act of 1968 for prenatal and post-natal care.

Calif. man named to Civil service commission

WASHINGTON—President Nixon last week-end announced the appointment of James E. Johnson, age 42, a Californian, to the U.S. Civil Service Commission. He is the first Negro appointed to the Commission in its 86-year history. He will succeed Robert E. Hampton who has been elevated to the post of chairman.

Mr. Johnson spent more than 20 years in the Armed Forces, finally as an officer in the Marine Corps. Less than two years ago he joined the staff or administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan of California as director of the California Department of Veterans Affairs.

Rights Conference to contact Chamber of Commerce on issue

The Indiana Conference on Civil and Human Rights plans to approach the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce to determine whether that group plans to support or oppose those recommendations by the Indiana Civil Rights Commission (the state government agency) which would give that Commission increased financial support as well as the authority to initiate its own right complaints of discrimination when Commission investigation indicates such complaints to be proper.

Present Indiana law requires that there be an individual (private citizen) complainant; and this restriction is one which has long since been abandoned from governmental as well as private affairs all remaining traces of racial, religious or ancestral discrimination.

Mindful that there now exists in Indiana facilities which call themselves "private clubs" use the guise of "private for members only" as a means of facilitating racial or religious discrimination.

The Conference agreed to direct its attention to certain of these "private clubs" to see whether additional legislation or possible litigation might be merited because of recent refusal by such "private clubs" to accept certain persons for membership or certain group recreational or promotional functions.

The measure would make betting locations, nuisances. They could be declared public nuisances in court. . . requiring less evidence than having the location ruled in court a house for gambling.

The bill also would amend certain gambling laws which require police to prove money was wagered before a gambler could be convicted of gambling. It would remove a provision which requires that money was wagered, lost or won.

Assembly bill to amend state's gambling laws

A bill introduced in the lower house of the General Assembly last weekend sponsored by rep. Adam Benjamin (Dem.-Gary) proposes to get easier convictions against gamblers.

A similar proposal was urged by Lake County Prosecutor, Henry Kowalczyk, in the 1967 General Assembly. The measure passed the House, 84-1 but failed in the Senate.

Elegant retirement party fetes Mrs. Beatrice Moore

An elegant retirement party was given Saturday, Jan. 18, at the beautiful Holiday Inn East, 38th and Road 67, in honor of a popular lady about town, Mrs. Beatrice "Bea" Moore.

The northsider retired in January from the transportation division, records section, of the Army Finance Center.

Many lovely gifts were bestowed upon Mrs. Moore at her retirement and at the afternoon luncheon. Hostesses were Mrs. Cora Fanning, Mrs. Retha

Scott, and Mrs. Wilma Gilpin. The delightful guests presented Mrs. Moore with a piece of luggage at her retirement and gave her two matching pieces at the gathering to make a complete set.

Those attending enjoyed a tempting menu including Swiss steak or fried chicken, whipped potatoes, a vegetable, a salad, rolls and butter, coffee or tea, and sherbert.

Guests seated at the table with the honoree, Mrs. Moore, were Miss Bhular M. Flanders, chief of the transportation division, records section; Mrs. Fanning, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Gilpin, and Mrs. Myrtle Robertson, Marge Condon, and Fredonia Stewart Temple. Mrs. Moore was pinned with a beautiful corsage of American beauty roses by Mrs. Fanning.

Enjoying the affair with the honoree were Meses. Edna Fast, Grace Stanesu, Thelma Mills, Donna Arthur, Bethel Purdy, Pamela Reynolds, Marcella Smith, Hazel Watkins, Hope Phillips, Mary Brinson, Myrtle Williams, Betty Lasley, Gertrude Davis, and Rita Sullivan.

Also Meses. Nancy Tuttle, Sandra Hendricks, Edythe Ames, Florence Horan, Aida Thomas, Jewell Glenn, Margaret Thompson, Thelma Fentz, Mary F. Weinantz, Dorothy Buckner, and Floreana Tinsley.

Others were Misses Naomi Duke, Kathleen Maupin, Rose Amolsch, Carmen Porter, Cheryl McDonald, Veronica Davis, and Josephine Fogle.

NCNW plan committee to meet

A committee planning a national project for the National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) will meet Sunday, Jan. 26 at 3 p.m. at Stouffer's Inn in the Van Camp Room.

An interesting film, entitled "The Power of Women," will be shown by Mrs. Mattie Coney executive director of Citizens Forum. Mrs. Coney is also a member of the NCNW.

Mrs. Farley Johnson is chairman of the planning committee.

Bridge players have kick-off tournament

The kick-off tournament which began 1969 activities for the Indianapolis Bridge Unit was held Jan. 8 at the Fall Creek Parkway UMC.

Despite inclement weather, the tourney was well-attended. Those who missed the opening gathering, missed a good, fast tournament.

Trophy winners were John Metzger and Leander Parker, first and Mrs. Gloria Dozier and Mrs. Irene Metzger, second. Mrs. Jacqueline Hanely is Unit president.

New officers of club are now elected

During a recent meeting with Mrs. Mattie Frazier, 1562 Greer Dell Rd., officers of the Les Femmes Mariee Club were elected.

They were Meses. Ruth Biggums, president; Pearl Foster, parliamentarian; Brenda Warfield, treasurer; Mattie Frazier, business manager; LaVon Walker, secretary; Stella Reed, financial secretary; Vera Roberts, reporter, and Dorothy Williams, sick committee chairman.

Mrs. Reed, 6536 Oakview Dr. will entertain at the next meeting.

THE WELL-respected Mrs. Beatrice "Bea" Moore, a retired employee of the Army Finance Center, was presented many lovely gifts by her co-workers at a luncheon Saturday afternoon, Jan. 18, at the Holiday Inn East. One of the gifts was a luggage set. Seen with the charming Mrs. Moore (right) at the party is the delightful Mrs. Cora Fanning, one of the hostesses.

Mrs. Dan Moore elected library board secretary

Mrs. Dan (Vivian Terry) Moore, 935 Indiana, was selected secretary of the Indianapolis-Marion County Public Library Board at the board's annual meeting January 15.

Mrs. Moore is dean of girls at Crispus Attucks High School. Other newly-elected officers of the board are Monta E. Hale, president; Mrs. Horace Pejee, vice-president, and John L. Gigerich, treasurer.

The library board meets the third Wednesday of each month. Harold J. Sander is director of libraries.

MRS. DAN MOORE

Guests revel at party

The You Sew, I Sew Art Club entertained guests and revealed Secret Pals with a gift exchange and social hour recently at the residence of Mrs. Mary Garvin, 3034 N. Park.

Games were directed by Mrs. Lucille Crawford.

Enjoying the refreshments and general socializing were Meses. J.R. Bradley, Odessa Beverly, Sarah Jones, Minnie Hawkins, Harriett Price, Florence Scott, Alfreda Thurman, and Clo Woolridge.

Officers for the new year are Meses. Theodosia Crenshaw, president; Hattie Wolford, vice-president; Lorene Winters, recording secretary; Lucille Crawford, financial secretary; Edna Woods, treasurer, and Sude Marsh, chaplain. Mrs. J. Vivian Stewart is reporter.

Members enjoy party

Members of First Baptist Church, N.L., born in the month of January were honored Sunday by the minister, Rev. James R. Bradley, and members.

The 43 honored guests each wore a birthday tag all day and were introduced in the morning and evening worship. The church sang "Happy Birthday" to them during a party in fellowship hall.

A large cake bore the words "Happy Birthday January Folks." The honorees and members enjoyed delightful punch and cake.

Those cited were Tina J. Allen, Susie Batie, Arthur Black Sr., Alice Black, Barrier T. Blanks, Ernestine Cheatham, Owen P. Cheatham, Mark Cravens Jr., Betty Daniels, J.C. Davis, Georgia Ewing, Emma Finley, Sam E. Garvin Sr., Steven Garvin, Barbara Graves, Rosalyn Hart, and Dollie Howard.

Janetts name officers

Instead of meeting on Thursday as originally planned, the Janett Club will meet Saturday, Jan. 25, from 4 p.m. till 7 p.m. A new member, Mrs. Learline Haniton, vice-president, will be welcomed.

The Janetts will also celebrate the birthdays of three ladies.

Officers are Meses. Mary Nelson, president; Elizabeth Scrivener, reporter; Willa Jackson, secretary; Margaret Porter, treasurer; Delores Peters, social fund treasurer and Beatrice Woods, assistant secretary.

Installation of officers set by club

Officers will be installed when the popular Les Grandmes meet Sunday afternoon, Jan. 26, at 4 p.m. at the household of Ruth. Mrs. Lucy Love will be the charming hostess.

Mrs. Virginia Butler is reporter. Mrs. Mae Thomas is president.

Chatting with the F.A.C.

By ELSA JACKSON

The first board of directors meeting will convene at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27. Several board affiliates elected in December will be duly installed. Board officers will be elected and the regular curriculum of business will be on the roster. Starling James, FAC president, and Mrs. Lulah Hodge are asking for 100 percent attendance.

Committees met in the club home last Monday night. It was agreed that each group will raise a certain amount of money for this year. The health and welfare committee will have a pre-Easter ham give-away under the direction of Miss Harriett O. Brown, chairman. A St. Patrick's Tea is being planned by the Civic and Human Relations Committee headed by Mrs. Lillian Goens. All committees will meet the third Tuesday of each month. The budget committee, with Mrs. Faye Williams as chairman, worked out the FAC budget for the year. Committee members present were Mrs. Lulah Hodge, Mrs. Willora Morris, Mrs. Margaret Ried, and Owen Woolridge.

The ways and means committee's bus to Bloomington, Ill., is filling up rapidly. A

MR. AND MRS. LAFAYETTE TURNER

LaFayette Turners home from cruise

After thoroughly enjoying a cruise to Jamaica, British West Indies, aboard the "Starward" Ship, Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Turner of 3121 N. Arsenal, returned home Monday full of interesting details of their week-long tour and sightseeing journey.

While in Miami, Fla., The Turners stayed at the Biscayne Terrace Hotel. They renewed friendships with two delightful ladies, Mrs. Carrie Tynes and her sister, Mrs. Viola Ho-King, a teacher. The Miami-mians feted the Indianapolis.

Besides Jamaica, the popular local couple relished visiting at three ports, which were Port Antonio, Kingston, the capitol of Jamaica, and Montego Bay. At Port Antonio they visited the native quarters and other points. Montego Bay is described as a gay resort town which bears the finest beach in the Caribbean "Doctor's Cave." Montego Bay is the second largest city of Jamaica. The Turners visited an area in the American section with homes valued from $50,000 to $100,000 and viewed coconut, banana, and sugar cane plantations, all owned by a Jamaican. They also visited the Rose Hall Great House, which is being restored.

Kingston, the capitol of Jamaica, bears blue mountains and has one of the largest harbors in the world. It is particularly famous for the Straw Market. Kingston bears Spanish towns, a fine cathedral, which is the oldest in the West Indies-St. Jagodela Vega, and the University of West Indies.

Mrs. Turner said cricket is the national game of Jamaica. Industries include bauxite, possibly the leading one; plastics, ceramics, sugar cane, pineapple, and bananas. The island is very much like other countries with such places as the race track, golf link, low-income projects, wealthy homes, and health middle classes.

Aboard ship, The Turners enjoyed a formal cocktail party and a formal dinner given by the captain. They danced to the music of Guy Lombardo and his Orchestra. Delicious foods were enjoyed by The Turners, along with the other 581 tourists.

The population in Jamaica is 73 percent black and there are no visible signs of racial problems, according to Mrs. Turner.

Mr. Turner is employed as a golf starter and arranger at Douglass Park. Mrs. Turner is a retired teacher having been director of student activities and a counselor at Crispus Attucks High School.

'Psychedelic Party' enjoyed by Bandives

The Civilian Recreation Center at Fort Harrison was the scene of a "Psychedelic Party" given by the Bandives Club Saturday, Jan. 18.

The hall was beautifully decorated with "way-out" pictures, and lights gave a psychedelic affect.

Members and guests danced and pranced to the sizzling music of Jesse Rogers. Prizes were awarded to the lady and gentleman with the most unusual costumes. Winners were Mrs. James Dabner and John Phillips.

Members participating were Messrs. and Meses. Dwight L. Carter, Allen Grundy, John M. Hannah, William H. Harrison,

City Federation

By CLARA PHILLIPS

The Silver Thread Club will meet Monday, Jan. 27, at the home of Mrs. Edna Rollins, 2242 N. Harding.

Business of importance is on the agenda. Every member is urged to be present. Mrs. Hazle McDaniel is president.

High Hatters' year-end party is real treat

The High Hatters had a gala "year end" party on Jan. 11 which began with dinner at the Kendall Inn for members and their escorts. Leaving there, the group progressed to the home of club member Katherine Harris for a gift exchange.

Guests then enjoyed an evening of Whist playing and dancing to the music of Radio Station WTLC. Cocktails were served, along with hors d'oeuvres.

The High Hatters are in the midst of plans for their "Sweethearts Ball" to be given March 8 at the Cole Porter Ballroom. The Morrocos of Dayton, Ohio, will provide music for an evening of pleasure.

Recorder Women Sponsors' next official meet set

Mrs. Paul A. Batties announces the next official meeting of The Recorder Sponsors Saturday, Feb. 1, at the residence of Mrs. Banks Miller, 4046 Rookwood, where Mrs. Floyd Wilson, chairman of The Sponsors, has graciously invited The Sponsors to be her guests for this official meeting.

Mrs. Wilson will preside over the meeting. A report of the past meeting as recorded by the charming and efficient secretary will be presented for adoption.

An inspirational talk will be given by the president of Recorder Charities, Dr. Guy L. Grant, who will talk of the subject: "The State of the Cheer Fund." The Sponsors look forward to Dr. Grant's annual address.

His remarks will be supplemented by the official annual report of the total income and expenditures of The Cheer Fund as thoroughly presented by Mrs. Fredonia Stewart Temple, the staff coordinator of Recorder Charities Services.

Mrs. Batties, director of The Sponsors, urges all Sponsors to be present. Plans for the spring season will be initiated at this meeting. The Sponsors are most grateful to the public for its continuing support as they seek to serve the community through The Recorder Charities, in meeting some of the community's major needs.

Two hundred-seventy-one families were recently helped by The Recorder Cheer Fund with a total of almost 1,000 children receiving the direct benefit of Cheer Fund services.

Regeana Brand is to become bride of Donald Holloway

Miss Regeana Louise Brand and Donald C. Holloway are planning a June 7 wedding in Christ Temple Apostolic Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Brand Sr., of 7315 Mt. Herman Rd., are parents of the future bride.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Matilda Holloway of 2640 Rader.

Miss Brand is a sophomore at Indiana University. Mr. Holloway will continue his studies at Indiana Central.

Both are members of Christ Temple.

Auditions are slated for a play

Auditions for the cast for the Warner Leroy play "Between Two Thieves" will be held Sunday, Jan. 26, at 2 p.m. at the Southport Christian Church, 101 E. Epler.

This Lenten drama had a very successful run off Broadway several seasons ago and was hailed by the critics. There are roles available for 10 men and four women.

The play will be under the co-direction of Rev. Richard Williams and Mrs. Helen White-lowe. The play will be presented in churches throughout the area during the Lenten season and will be produced by several arrangements with Samuel French Inc., New York, New York.

'Senior Citizens' Showcase' at Fairgrounds plans made

PLANS ARE underway for a "Senior Citizens Showcase" to be held in the Farmers Building of the Indiana State Fairgrounds Saturday, Jan. 25, from 10 a. m. till 10 p. m. and Sunday, Jan. 26, from 12 noon to 8 p. m. Considering plans for the event are (from left to right) the charming Mrs. Carol Klapmeyer, assistant director of special activities for the Park Department; Mrs. Wandea Cline, director of special activities for the Park Department, and Mrs. Sarabell Gross, group leader for senior citizens with the Community Action Against Poverty (CAAP). The ladies contemplate an "exchanged booth."

SPONSORED BY the Community Action Against Poverty (CAAP) a "Senior Citizens Showcase" has been scheduled, without cost, for the public on Saturday, Jan. 25, from 10 a. m. till 10 p. m. and Sunday, Jan. 26, from 12 noon to 8 p. m. at the Farmers Building of the Indiana State Fairgrounds. The charming ladies working toward the success of the event include (from left to right) Mrs. Willa Mills, special group worker at Watkins Center; Ella Hart, senior citizens program chairman at Watkins Center; Mrs. Emma Johnson, director of the "Senior Citizens Showcase," and Mrs. Cleon Reynolds, director of the senior citizens programs for the Metropolitan Park Department.

A Senior Citizens Showcase is being presented by the local anti-poverty's senior citizens program director on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 25 and Jan. 26 in the Farmers Building at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Mrs. Emma O. Johnson, acting director of the Community Action Against Poverty (CAAP) of Greater Indianapolis Inc. senior citizens program, says the goals of the showcase are:

(1) To promote interest in the program among senior citizens.

(2) To demonstrate the need for the program to the community.

(3) To acquaint senior citizens with services and materials available to them.

(4) To match employers who have suitable job openings with elderly persons who are willing and able to work.

Mrs. Johnson has cooperation from the Metropolitan Park Department, Indianapolis Senior Citizens Center Inc., and Christamore House in the planning.

Other agencies which will have displays include the Marion County Public Welfare Department, United States Social Security Administration, and Legal Services Organization, Food Stamp Program, Red Cross, Flanner House, Morgan Health Center, Senior Citizens Organizations and Businesses Catering to the Elderly.

At the present time, CAAP is operating senior citizens programs at four locations: 636 Blake, Watkins Community Center, 2360 Northwestern; Broadway Christian Center, 1654 Broadway, and a joint program with Christamore House, 502 N. Tremont.

Mrs. Johnson hopes to establish a permanent program in each of the nine CAAP target poverty neighborhoods. These programs would include educational programs, armchair tours, arts and crafts, trips and recreation, employment, health legal, family counseling and financial referral services, a health clinic with regular visits by nurses, and hot meals for those who are unable to cook for themselves.

Delight guests with a light, refreshing dessert. Banana-Orange Dessert Mold is the perfect ending for a tasty meal. Evaporated milk keeps it creamy-good. Garnished with mint leaves and orange segments, the mold looks as good as it tastes.

BANANA-ORANGE DESSERT MOLD
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 2 packages (3 ounces each) orange flavored gelatin | 1 1/2 cups (11-ounce can) mandarin oranges       |
| 2 cups boiling water                               | Mandarin orange syrup plus water to make 1/2 cup |
| 1 cup (1/2 pint) orange sherbet                    | 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk        |
|  | 3/4 cup (1 medium) chopped banana                |

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in sherbet until melted. Cool slightly. Drain oranges; reserve syrup. Add water to reserved syrup to make 2/3 cup. Stir syrup-water mixture and Carnation Evaporated Milk into cooled gelatin. Blend well. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat gelatin until fluffy. Fold in chopped banana. Pour into 5-cup mold and chill until set (about 2 hours). Unmold and garnish with orange segments.

CHILI CORN CASSEROLE
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

- |                              |   |
|------------------------------|---|
| 2 tablespoons butter         | 1 tablespoon flour                                    |
| 1/2 cup finely chopped onion | 1/4 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk           |
| 1/4 cup diced green pepper   | 1 1/2 cups (1-pound can) drained, rinsed kidney beans |
| 1 pound ground chuck         | 1 1/2 cups (14 1/2-ounce can) whole peeled tomatoes   |
| 2 teaspoons chili powder     |   |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt         |   |
| 1/2 teaspoon pepper          |   |
| 1/2 teaspoon cayenne         |   |

Melt butter in large skillet. Saute onions and green pepper in butter until tender. Add meat and seasonings. Cook until meat is browned. Pour off fat. Sprinkle in flour and stir until combined. Add Carnation Evaporated Milk, beans and tomatoes. Simmer 5 minutes, stirring often. Pour into 8x8x2-inch baking dish. Top with corn meal cut-outs. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 40 minutes.

Corn Meal Cut-outs: Combine 2/3 cup water, 1/2 cup yellow corn meal and 1/2 teaspoon salt in medium saucepan. Cook rapidly over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat. Gradually blend in 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk. Return to heat and cook until stiff, stirring frequently. (about 8 minutes). Roll corn meal out between 2 pieces of wax paper until 1/8 inch thick. Let stand 5 minutes or until waxed paper peels off easily. Cut into circles or diagonals and place on top of chili mixture.

Naturally Healthy Normal Hair GROWS from the HAIR ROOTS in YOUR SCALP. The condition of your hair often depends heavily on the natural health of your scalp. Years ago DOCTOR CARBONOEEL invented a medicated tar formula called CARBONOEEL which is mixed with many proven beneficial ingredients. CARBONOEEL is such a strong, powerful antiseptic and does such fine work in helping an ITCHY, BUMPY, DANDRUFF scalp that many DOCTORS regard it highly and PRESCRIBE it for many scalp troubles. Many annoying externally caused scalp conditions are greatly relieved by the use of this Triple strength tar formula. Write for this DOCTOR'S GENUINE SCALP FORMULA now. It will be sent to you all mixed and ready to use. USE IT FOR 7 DAYS, and if you are not satisfied, your money back. Pay only $1.50 on delivery. This includes everything. Don't pay a penny more. You get it with full directions. Use the finest MEDICATED SCALP FORMULA your money can buy. Your hair and scalp deserve fine care. ## Defiants Club offers helping hand to others

To start their ninth year as a civic and social organization members of the Defiants Club have outlined a number of civic and social events to be disclosed at a later date.

One project of great importance which is now in effect is a consultation program for organizations just starting - male and female. Any group wishing advice on club procedures, helpful hints, and problems that are bound to occur can call and leave a message for Joe Broyles, 923-5554. The club will then be contacted for a meeting at members' convenience.

The Defiants re-elected all their officers. Mr. Broyles was elected to the new post as public relations director.

Church Events

By WILLA THOMAS

Our thanks to each church which cooperated in this food drive. Please may I have your report.

New Bethel Baptist Church gave 200 cans and $235 and First Baptist Church, N.E., gave 101 cans.

Please call in your report to me before Monday.

Mrs. Reba Diggs is home from the hospital. Ill in her home is Mrs. Veannie Dawson and William H. Wooley. Please pray for them.

This week through the 26th of this month is known as the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. Four area services are being held Sunday, Jan. 26. The theme is "Called to Freedom."

The services are Northside, 7:30 p.m., Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church; southside, University Heights United Methodist Church, 6:30 p.m., northwest, St. Gabriel Catholic Church, 4 p.m., and westside, Washington Street Methodist Church, 7:30 p.m.

You are invited to attend the prayer services.

Rev. James Bradley, minister of First Baptist Church N.E., will speak Sunday at 3:30 p.m., at Mt. Helm Baptist Church. The mass choir will sing.

Good news for Indianapolis - an orientation breakfast for ministers and laymen from each local church. Plans will be told on how we are to reach 225,000 homes to distribute Bibles. More about this later or contact Donald W. Daniel, 547-2078.

Practical nurses meet is scheduled

Division 3 of the Indiana State Licensed Practical Nurse Association Inc., will meet Friday, Jan. 24, in the World War Memorial Building.

Mrs. Lela Eastridge, chairman of the legislative committee of Division 3, will lead members of the committee in a report of the progress of the mandatory license bill in the General Assembly.

The program will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. All LPNs are urged to attend. Mrs. Donna Heiss is Division 3 president.

aged, being built by Mt. Zion Baptist Church at 34th and Boulevard Dr. R.T. Andrews is minister.

Mt. Zion is also building a Baptist Church called the Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Africa.

The communication unit of the Church Federation will meet in the Inter-Church Center at 12 noon Thursday, Jan. 29. All members are to be present.

Once in a while I run across someone whom I've known for a long time. It was good to see Dr. and Mrs. Russell Lane, a most respected man, was my former school principal.

My thanks to Miss Bea Moten of WTLN a wonderful person who helped us at Clowes Hall last Sunday. We wish to thank all who attended and helped.

Mrs. James Patton was project chairman.

We still have some Martin Luther King Jr. calendars available to business concerns. Call me.

Please attend church Sunday and God bless you.

Unheralded late lawyer paid singular tribute

A. Chesterfield Terence, attorney, a tribute:
By Sea H. Ferguson

It is fitting and proper that we gather today to pay respect to A. Chesterfield Terence. He passed Friday, January 10, 1969 in the Marion County General Hospital. He was born August 3, 1885 in New Orleans, Louisiana, the son of mixed parents, a white french mother, and an American Negro father. He was a resident of Indianapolis approximately fifty years. By profession he was a lawyer. At one time he belonged to the Elks Fraternity. He was a member of the Marion County Bar Association. He was attorney for the Progress Investment Company, Inc., the late Denver D. Ferguson & Cyrus Graham Enterprises, the Senate Avenue Branch YMCA, the Sea H. Ferguson Enterprises and many other individuals and corporations.

Let me pause here for a moment to eulogize and appraise this good and great man. For by every known standard he measured up to be a good and great man. He graduated from McGill University, Toronto, Canada, as a lawyer with the highest honor available in law, Magna Cum Laude. I know of no other man with a higher academic honor. He knew both the English and American law. He spoke both French and English fluently. At one time he was offered a professorship to teach law at his Alma Mater.

In 1954 he correctly predicted the Supreme Court's decision on school desegregation long before the decision was rendered. He was an apostle of our court system, always saying, "all great decisions must be made in a court of law." As a scholar, truly he achieved academic excellence.

As a citizen and gentleman, he learned early in life what it meant to love and be loved. He had no known kindred. He was neighborly - and kind; not only to his peers, but with every living soul who was fortunate enough to meet and know him. He was not possessed with a great ambition for wealth or

Confab to focus on Negro student nurses recruit

SOUTH BEND- The annual Indiana Association of Nursing Students will hold its annual state convention Feb. 27 through March 1 in the Marrott Hotel in Indianapolis.

Focus of the confab will be "Breakthrough," a nationally sponsored intensive program to recruit qualified Negro students to nursing.

Statewide Nursing Student Week, beginning Feb. 23, will climax in the selection of the student nurse of the year.

Winner in rat contest named

Citizens Forum Inc. announces the first place winner in the de-rat-ication campaign for the week ending Jan. 17 to be Bryan Perdue, 3744 Roseway Drive.

Mr. Perdue turned in 30 rats on Jan. 15 and 60 on Jan. 16 for a total of 90 rats to Fire Station 34 located at 3260 Franklin Rd.

A total of 209 rats were turned in recently. The grand prize was raised from $120 to $150.

Mrs. Hattie Perkins

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Lee Perkins, age 75, 717 Indiana Ave. were held in the Willis Mortuary, Thursday, Jan. 16. The burial was in Floral Park Cemetery. She died in General Hospital, Saturday, Jan. 11.

She had lived here 45 years and was born in Hopkinsville, Ky. She had been a housekeeper at the Lorraine Hotel. She was a member of Halcyon Temple No. 127 (IBOEW) and New Liberty Baptist Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Iris R. Pettus, city; two sisters, Mrs. Lalla Campbell, Casa Grand, Ariz., and Mrs. Bessie Turner, San Bernardino, Calif., a grandson, George C. Pettus, city and other relatives.

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

"I have made an unbreakable resolution this year," a friend announced to me recently. "And, Inez, I have you to thank. It is all because I read your column that I first decided to try new Concentrated 'all' with the three B's - bleach, borax and brighteners. It got out tough dirt and stains that never came out before. Right then and there I resolved to make three-B 'all' the detergent for all of my family's laundry," she said.

If your clothes carry stains that are reminders of last year's soiled and spills, then to use three-B "all" should be your 1969 resolution, too. You get superior cleaning power, because it is a unique heavy-duty laundry product.

But that is not all. The blue, green and yellow granules aren't there just to look pretty. They are the bleach, borax and brighteners that you need to solve even your most difficult laundry problem.

If you resolve to have the cleanest wash possible, then "all" with bleach, borax and brighteners is the detergent for you.

It's my guess that this is one resolution you won't break.

Do you have some slow starters at your house on these cold winter mornings? Often it's not just the car that has difficulty getting in gear. I've discovered that our day gets off to a much better start when a hearty breakfast of fluffy pancakes topped with delicious MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup is served. Everyone hurries to get to the table on these mornings.

You just can't beat this delicious syrup when it comes to flavor! Its flavor offers a superior taste that's more than just maple - there's butter in it, too - the perfect combination for a syrup.

You'll find MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S stays where you pour it - right on the pancakes. As you know this isn't true of all syrups. That's because it's thick as well as being rich.

For a doubly warm breakfast, serve piping-hot MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup with pancakes, French toast or waffles. Don't limit this Lever Brothers syrup to just pancakes alone.

Start your family off right in the New Year by serving MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup on waffles and French toast, too. They'll be glad you did.

I wonder if you make many New Year's resolutions? Well, I did not. I decided after last year, "What's the use?" If you are like me, why make resolutions? Instead, why not make some practical decision you can live by - like making PHASE III a regular item on your shopping list.

Let me give you two reasons why you should do so. First, it is a deodorant bar, which is needed by every member of the family. Secondly, it has a creamy texture that leaves your skin feeling as fresh as the aqua or pink color of the bar.

Now, you ask, what more can you expect? Well, I had to admit getting deodorant protection from PHASE III and all the pluses that you expect from a creamy beauty bar is exceptional. Chemically speaking, it has been shown that this beauty bar does not disturb the normal acidity of your skin, will not dry it out or cause irritation.

PHASE III is just what you have been wanting. And I assure you that you, too, will enjoy all of its features, no matter what day of the year it is. If you use it, I know you will agree it's practical to use PHASE III throughout the year.

phase III

Did the holiday baking and parties leave you with dishpan hands? Dry wintry days ahead offer no solution to this problem, but I have one I'd like to share with you. It's real simple. Use DOVE dishwashing liquid and see the difference in your hands. Although you probably remedy your rough, red hand situation while doing dishes, it can happen when you switch to DOVE.

This fantastic product is definitely the answer to every woman's wish. It contains a special skin-lotion ingredient that softens your hands and keeps them soft. In fact, DOVE's luxurious fragrance is that of a hand lotion. Regardless of what we do or how old we are, all of us girls want lovely and soft hands. I am no exception! When I am home, the task of doing dishes is mine. But once I leave Kansas City, it is important for me to extend a soft hand as I greet people all over the country.

So take a working homemaker's advice, use DOVE dishwashing liquid and see how soft your hands will be, too.

A-In Memoriam

ALBERTA SMITH
SMITH-In loving memory of our dear sister and mother
ALBERTA SMITH who passed away February 4, 1963.

This month comes with deep regret
The saddest part of all this is the month you left us
You were taken away without good bye
You were gone before we knew
Dear God saw you getting weary
And only did what He thought best

whispered come and rest
You left us a beautiful memory
But a sorrow too great to be told
It broke our hearts to lose you
God called you home our hearts still ache

With loneliness, our eyes shed many tears
God only knows how much we miss you
Your gentle face and sweet smile
With sadness we recall, you always had a kindly word for all of us
And died beloved by all
You are not forgotten sister and mother
Nor ever will you be as long as life and memory last we shall remember thee
Sadly missed by

Interfaith newspaper is planned

BY WILLA THOMAS

For almost a year now discussion has been underway about publishing a Protestant-Catholic Newspaper. This idea seems near at hand.

The publication of this ecumenical newspaper will serve the religious community in Central Indiana. Protestant and Catholic leaders have approved the proposal. The board of directors of the Criterion Press Inc., publishers of the Catholic Weekly, "The Criterion," and the denominational concerns commission of the Church Federation of Greater Indianapolis, did authorize the drafting of final plans for the publication.

Church leaders believe the newspapers would enhance the reputation of the Indianapolis area as a national center of the ecumenical movement.

Thomas R. Stratton, representing the Church Federation, and John G. Ackelmire, representing The Criterion Press, said that a final decision would be reached by this spring.

City's 'big three' returns to normal schedule after tourney

BY A STAFF WRITER

Both Shortridge and Crispus Attucks will get back onto the regular schedule this weekend in an attempt to get back on the winning trail after losses in the rugged city tournament. Runnerup Shortridge (13-2) looser to Washington in the championship finals, will take on Arlington (4-8) on the Golden Knight's court Saturday night, while Crispus Attucks (13-1), whose only loss have come at the hands of Shortridge in the meet, will host not-so-tough Lafayette Jeff at the Attucks gym.

The Continentals undefeated through 15 games this season and city champion for the fifth time in the last seven years, were to play Columbus (9-4) Wednesday night as The Recorder sports pages went to press.

Coach Bill Green's crew seem certain to go the entire season undefeated with a remaining season consisting of Wood (2-11), Broad Ripple (5-6) Howe (6-6), Ben Davis (7-5), Tech (6-5), and Arlington (4-8).

If the Continentals are successful they would enter the Sectionals in late February with a 22-0 record and the No. 1 rating in Hoosier high school basketball, a position they have held now for the past month. In other contests this week, Marshall's 10-2 Patriots take on Markleville, Tech will take on Howe and host Manual (7-7) Wood will host Northwest (3-7). Howe will play Secina (3-10), and Broad Ripple will run up against Cathedral (10-3).

*** The city tourney got off to a good start last Wednesday as Wood crushed Kennedy, 68-68, behind Don Williams' 26 points. Things really got started Thursday night at all four tourney cities.

At Northwest, Attucks rolled past the host school, 90-61, with three men scoring in double figures; and Ritter rolled past Broad Ripple.

Washington rolled past Secina, 102-72, as McGinnis scored 33 points, and host Tech crushed Deaf School, 79-43. Frank Kendrick led the Titans with 21 points.

In the Arlington tourney, Shortridge defeated Chataud 79-61, and Marshall topped Arlington, 91-84.

Cathedral started off on a winning note at Manual, downing Howe 90-75 behind Jim Curry's 33 markers. Manual defeated Wood, 67-63.

On Friday night Attucks shot better than .500 per cent from the field in defeating Ritter 101-50 behind Bob Whitley's 25 points and Curtis Johnson's 21. In the consolation Broad Ripple turned back Northwest, 62-51.

Washington bounced Tech, 90-57, to advance to the semifinal round. McGinnis scored 34 points. Secina took on Deaf School in the consolation and were victorious, 80-34.

Shortridge handed Marshall only their second loss of the season, 93-63, as six men scored in double figures. Chataud eased past Arlington, 70-68.

Cathedral got past Manual, 67-64, to advance to the semifinals, and Howe defeated Wood 69-51 in the first contest.

In Saturday afternoon action, the Blue Devils fell seven points behind Attucks early in the first period but shot past in the third-ranking Tigers, 70-57, behind some fine balanced shooting. The score was 15-14 in favor of Shortridge after the first period, but the Blue Devils fired up in the second period to lead 40-29 at the half.

Shortridge fired a hot 455 from the field while the Tigers were way off their usual performance with a mere .315 from the field.

Ken Randle led the Blue Devils with 21 points on nine of 12 shots from the floor and three of three at the free throw stripe. George Tandy hit seven of nine from the field and free toss for 15 points. Robert Wilson had 13, Clarence Crain 11 and Greg Allen 10.

McGinnis and Company had little trouble in disposing of Cathedral, 97-66, in the second contest. McGinnis led all scorers with 40 points.

Washington fired a magnificent .661 from the floor, hitting 39 of 59 attempts, to dump Shortridge, 90-68, in the title tilt.

Steve Downing, the Continental's 6-foot-9 center, was amazing as he hit 15 of 18 field goals for 30 points to lead all scorers. McGinnis tallied 23 points, Jim Arnold 20 and Wayne Pack nine.

Crain led Shortridge players with 20 points but the Blue Devils fired only .391 in their second loss to Washington this season.

Shortridge will tangle with Attucks again on Feb. 1 and the Tigers are expected to be in better shape with the addition of their injured center, Isaac Robinson, who will return to the lineup.

Campanella voted into Hall of Fame

NEW YORK — Roy Campanella, the Brooklyn Dodger catcher who thrilled millions of baseball fans for 10 years during the late '40s and early '50s, became the second Negro to be inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown (N.Y.) Tuesday.

The 47-year-old Campanella, whose career ended in an automobile crash 11 years ago, was named on 270 votes or about 80 percent of the ballots. A vote of about 75 percent is needed to make the shrine.

Stan (The Man) Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal who won the National League batting crown seven times, was also named to the hall with 317 votes, the second highest to-

Disqualified Olympic boxer given sportsmanship award

NEW YORK — The Gustavus Town Kirby Sportsmanship Award, presented in Olympic years by the Boys' Athletic League of New York, was presented to Olympic featherweight boxing runnerup Al Robinson last Thursday.

Robinson was the favorite to win the Olympic featherweight crown last October but a Russian referee disqualified him for alleged butting and awarded the gold medal to his Mexican opponent.

(SPECIAL TO THE RECORDER)

WASHINGTON — For Charlie Sifford, the next important test will not come on any of the golf courses on the pros' winter circuit. He has already proved he could win one of the big ones.

Last week, the veteran black golfer won the Los Angeles Open in sudden-death playoff and took the $20,000 first prize. The victory was his second major win on record.

Now will he be invited to Augusta? No Negro golfer ever has. The Masters people have never gotten around to desegregating their tournament. In the past, the only Negroes at the Masters have been attired in waiters' breeches or caddie clothes.

The defense of the Masters people has been a fairly valid one. There had been no Negro golfer of sufficiently commanding ability to warrant a Masters invitation. But now Charlie Sifford has come along and a new judgment is required.

Actually, the Masters people themselves won't make the decision of Sifford. He isn't eligible by their rules which automatically qualify former U.S. Open or U.S. Amateur winners and the six top pros of the preceding year. Sifford is gaining in prominence but he isn't

Murphy was unhappy during first season with Niagara

NIAGARA, N.Y. — There was a time last winter when it seemed that Calvin Murphy, the nation's second leading collegiate basketball scorer, would not be wearing the purple uniform of Niagara this season.

Although he was second in the country in scoring last season, Murphy did not really enjoy his first campaign at the Niagara Falls school.

Among the reasons are: The athletic department was shaken by a rivalry between the director and the basketball coaches, some campus activists sought to "use" Murphy, a black teammate accused the school of a prejudiced admissions policy, Murphy developed a sore knee, he failed to qualify for the Olympic team, the Niagara team merely split its 24 games and there was no bid from the National Invitation Tournament.

A gentle and undemanding young man, Murphy felt isolated as one of the few Negroes (and Protestants) at the Catholic school. He said he had to travel an hour to Buffalo for a social life and he did not own a car, even though he had a job twirling the baton between the halves of the Buffalo Bills football games.

Toward the end of the season, many Niagara students believed that Murphy was thinking of transferring to Houston or University of California, Los Angeles, or some other Big 8 city basketball power. After a while, Murphy almost began to believe the rumors himself.

Then the season ended, and the youthful coaches who had recruited Murphy out of Norwalk, Conn., left Niagara after a running battle with the long-time athletic director and previous coach, Taps Gallagher. The new coach was a former Niagara player named Frank Layden, who had most recently coached at Adelphi-Suffolk College on Long Island. "I met with the players and ters, Sifford is now dependent on his fellow pros in the PGA, the 18 of them who are former winners of the tournament and are entitled to add one player of their own choosing to the invited list. This privilege goes to former Masters winners under rule 13 of the eligibility code.

Thus, Sifford's fate is in the hands of a special group of pros who in their own time have been invested with the green jacket symbolic of a Masters victory. Most of the names are well known. To drop a few, there are Sarazen, Demaret, Palmer, Nicklaus, Hogan, Middlecoff, Nelson, Snead, Gary Player, Doug Ford and Gay Brewer. That accounts for most of the surviving 18 who have won the Masters.

Sifford has a special plus going for him. Virtually all of his fellow pros have professed much fondness for the cigar-smoking, baggy-panted 46-year-old black pro who shuffles among them with little to say.

Unless Sifford slumps badly, the time will be coming when they must give the Masters people the yes-or-no on the first Negro who may rate an invitation.

The PGA's record with respect to black golfers has not been a good one. It was not until 1954, when a court suit was threatened, that the organization expelled the "Caucasians only" clause from its bylaws and permitted a Negro named Jim Rhodes to play in a California tournament.

Even the more august United States Golf Association (USGA) never had any such exclusions as the PGA. In 1896 a Negro

Washington tops poll, Shortridge 5th, Attucks 6th

The top spot in Indiana high school basketball in Associated Press rankings went to Indianapolis city champion Washington again this week as the Continentals threaten to remain at the top throughout the 1968-69 campaign.

Indianapolis Shortridge, 90-68 looser to Washington in the city tournament final, remained in the fifth spot, while Crispus Attucks, 70-57 looser to Shortridge, dropped from third to sixth.

The rankings with won-loss records were as follows:

1. Washington (15-0), 2. Marion (12-0), 3. Vincennes (12-0), 4. Gary Tollestson (14-1), 5. Shortridge (13-2), 6. Attucks (13-1), 7. East Chicago Roosevelt (11-1), 8. Scottsbluff (13-0), 9. Richmond (10-2), 10. Fort Wayne Elmhurst (12-1).

The second 10 consisted of 11. Goshen (10-3), 12. Michigan City (10-2), 13. Connersville (11-1), 14. Evansville Reitz (9-3), 15. Greenfield (13-1), 16. Seymour (8-5), 17. East Chicago Washington (10-4), 18. Evansville Rex Mundi (9-2), 19. Ferdinand (12-1), Bluffton, (13-0).

Also receiving votes were

21. Warsaw (12-2), 22. Attica (13-0), 23. Jac-Cen-Del (13-1), 24. Carmel (12-0), 25. Crown Point (13-1), 26. Terre Haute Garfield (12-1), 27. Anderson (7-4).

Assault on racism

Two generations ago, in 1928, the National Conference of Christians and Jews was organized to challenge—in the words of its organizational statement—"a identified as the blind prejudice and discrimination which blocked many persons from full citizenship and threatened national unity and justice."

"We recognize a vast need for color harmonizing in our national life," the Conference founders of 1928 declared in identifying some of the major intergroup problems facing the nation. Anti-Catholicism and anti-Semitism likewise merited attention and became a major focus of the NCCJ in its educational programming for many years.

While interreligious bigotry has been by no means erased from American life, there has occurred a tremendous revolution in interreligious relations. The NCCJ, through its long-term educational programming, can rightfully claim some part of the credit for this welcome advance in human relations.

However, the other "specter in the path of democracy" remains with us and there is still "a vast need for color harmonizing in our national life."

The Presidential Commission on Civil Disorders pointed this out when it warned that polarization of America into two societies, one black and the other white, threatened "the destruction of basic democratic values."

NCCJ's proven techniques of education and persuasion have resulted in the building of better human relationships in all areas of our society—in the fields of education, religion and our community and economic life. Programs for young people give hope for a future free of bigotry.

"The educational work of the National Conference is vitally important and a necessary part of the national effort to find an alternative to 'blind repression or capitulation to lawlessness' amount which the Presidential Commission warned.

LBJ, the-10-ft. Texan who dared to care

The yardsticks for measuring a President's greatness has always varied with the most pressing issues confronting him during his term. Lyndon Baines Johnson, the remarkable politician from Texas with a knack for having things go his way, entered office at a time riddled by unrest, both domestic and international.

With his assumption of the Presidency, he fell heir to the ever-unpopular Viet Nam War, described by many as the U.S.'s biggest blunder. On the home front, the problems were just as severe, headed by the growing civil rights crisis, poverty, swiftly degenerating cities and countless other problems that might have gone without solution under any other Administration.

It was here in "our own backyard" that he gained stature of a magnitude that equaled if not surpassed any of his predecessors. For the black man and other oppressed minorities he proved a worthy ally and true "Capitol Hill friend" as he demanded, passed and used at times his almost awesome persuasion to insure and expedite the passage of more civil rights legislation than any other President.

In the face of sometimes overwhelming opposition from fellow Southerners, some conservative elements and other stumbling blocks, LBJ wavered not once in his constant demands for more rights legislation. Today, minority groups, especially Negroes, reap the benefits of this tireless Texan's unprecedented labor in the fields of housing, employment, voting, public accommodations, travel and others.

Advancing even more his thrusts to see that Negro Americans are included in all facets of life he became the first Chief Executive to name blacks to such positions as a Supreme Court Justice, cabinet secretary, mayor of Washington, D.C., member of the Federal Reserve of Commerce, Assistant U.S. Attorney General, and director of the Equal Opportunity and Employment Commission.

Rising even more to the challenge of social ills, he offered the well-endowed plan of Federal assistance to others denied America's riches through such daring programs as Medicare, Medicaid, Model Cities Program, bold new educational plans, the War on Poverty, to name a few. All this he did in the shadow of declining popularity, an overabundance of skeptics, harsh blasts from critics and a Congress that sometimes seemed bent on being his major obstacle.

On Monday, President Johnson became former President Johnson leaving behind a five-year tenure that will be weighed, evaluated and debated over and over by historians. Without doubt they will speak of blunders, miscalculations and the wearisome burden of the Viet Nam War. But nothing short of glowing tribute can be paid his efforts in the area of long-due social reforms.

The black man can bask in the knowledge he is a bit more of an American, thanks to a now retired political mastermind who cared. Others, now able to secure medical care, a decent home, decent job and training, a better education and a new outlook on life, can render unto this same man homage for being their biggest lobbyist and loudest spokesman during the past five years.

Lyndon Baines Johnson, now plagued by the fact he did not accomplish more, can patiently wait knowing that history, mankind and unequal advancement will stand as lasting testaments that the course he chose was just.

Decentralization the big issue

The fight to decentralize New York's mammoth school system has now entered a new phase.

The first phase was a stormy one—the establishment of three experimental locally-controlled school systems and the joining together of the teacher's union and school administrators to try to kill meaningful decentralization.

The next phase promises to be just as stormy. The Board of Education released its plan to decentralize the schools, and after public hearings the plan will go to the state legislature for approval. The teachers, who mounted a massive lobbying campaign to kill previous decentralization plans, including threats to defeat legislators who vote for decentralization, will probably be on the attack once more.

The whole country is watching what happens in New York since decentralization of the schools and perhaps other city services will be a major issue in every large city. It would be tragic if people assume from New York's experience that decentralization can only come about through turmoil and bitter struggle.

Some experiments in community control of the schools have been achieved without such upheavals. Washington, D.C., for example, has one such successful experiment in its Morgan Community School. While there was some opposition in the early days of the experiment, it has proved itself by getting full community support and by improving the education of the youngsters attending the school. It now looks like the experiment will be expanded to the other schools in the Washington system.

It is interesting too, that Washington teachers support decentralization. They endorsed it by a vote of more than two to one at the same time that New York's teachers, who belong to the same national union, were striking against decentralization last fall.

Its too bad that the whole concept of decentralization in New York has become bogged down in vested interests and bureaucratic sabotage. The focus really should be on the kids; the present system has failed them and the schools have to be made accountable to their parents.

The Morgan Community School gives evidence that when parents have a voice in running the schools, children achieve more. It was one of the few schools in Washington where pupil's scores on standardized tests rose markedly last year. Habitual truants are back at their desks and vandalism is at a new low. It is clear that the school is now a part of the community, not just in it.

Last year the U.S. Office of Education released a report that was the most exhaustive study of public schools ever made. It concluded that the biggest factor in determining a child's success in school was his sense of control over his environment.

When a child sees that his school respects his parents and allows them to make their voice heard; when he sees that his school's teachers and administrators believe in his potential and seek to develop his skills; when he sees his school as a living, vital, full-time part of his neighborhood, he will feel a greater sense of his own importance and will achieve better in his studies.

As the well known Bundy Report which first suggested a decentralization plan for New York put it: "There is an intimate relation between the community and the ability of public education to function effectively....(1) the community regards the school with positive expectations."

That's what decentralization is all about—making the schools work better for our children.

Powell case hearing started by High Court

WASHINGTON—The Case of Congressman Adam Clayton Powell (Dem. N.Y.) charging that the U.S. House acted unconstitutionally on denying him his seat in 1967, and stripped him of 22 years of seniority, last week-end was placed on the general calendar by the Supreme Court.

Mr. Powell's expulsion followed charges in the House that he had misused some $40,000 in federal money, mainly travel funds, and put his wife on the payroll and collected her salary himself. Since that time he has been re-elected and seated.

Depending upon construction put on Powell's plea the High Court may come into a collision with the Congress. The Court's decision to hear the plea has already caused an outcry from the conservative ranks of the House, critical of the trends of liberalism in recent years.

AN IRATE EMPLOYEE carefully counted the money in his pay envelope before the paymaster. "It's $1 short!" he roared. "What's the meaning of this?"

Checking the record sheet, the paymaster replied, "Last week we overpaid you $1. You didn't complain then, did you?"

"An occasional mistake I can overlook," the angry man answered. "But not two in a row!"

Tokenism unmasked

Richard Green Lugar, the youthful and brilliant Mayor of Indianapolis, very possibly suffers from the same type of illusions which characterized the former President of General Motors who became General Eisenhower's Secretary of Defense. That stalwart gentleman, as the reader will recall, stated that "what is good for General Motors is good for the country."

Mr. Lugar, being a much smarter man than Charles (Bird Dog) Wilson would never be so naive as to make a statement like Mr. Wilson's, but men's motives are usually better indices than their words.

Evidently the personable Mayor of Indianapolis would like to be second to Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago in the amount of power he would yield thinks that what is good for local big business is also good for all of the citizenry. When he proposes a type of political reorganization for the city and county which would to all practical purposes emasculate politically the black and the poor segments of the population of Indianapolis, he seems to reason like the former slave owners who thought that their human property would be better off under their guidance than as free men and women.

It would be unfair to the Oxford-educated scholar who occupies the highest office which our city affords to accuse him of racism. He is not although the system under which he grew up and in which he now is manifesting his destiny of counter race (witness the term "the opposite race") or as an object of humane pity.

And it has long been the custom of the white power structure to favor certain Negroes as tokens of their esteem(?) or as bribes for the black vote.

The favors extended to Booker T. Washington by white America was not because they recognized in him one of the most talented men which the Western Hemisphere had produced (which he actually was) but because he had advocated a philosophy which would not endanger the continuance of white supremacy.

And throughout American history, especially since the Civil War white America has given positions and titles to Negroes to placate the great masses of black people whom it was exploiting.

During the thirties and early forties it became fashionable for the local political parties to nominate a Negro for the City Council. Then there came a period of about twenty years during which the city council of Indianapolis reverted to being a white man's club. During the days when the Civil Rights Revolution was having its most spectacular vogue the tokenism pattern was revived.

In recent years it has been the custom of political parties and politicians to give certain jobs to Negroes and to include them on policy making boards hereabout. There they were supposed to be seen and not heard unless it was to say yes to what the controlling party of politician wanted.

The first Negro elected to the school board as a token gesture was a disappointment to the establishment because on occasion he asked questions which nobody wanted to answer and was naive enough to expect answers. After his term expired, the school board reverted to its pristine lily-white-ness.

Then tokenism was tried again. At the 1st election the establishment got its wires crossed and three blacks were elected, which we can be sure will call for majority counter-assertion next time.

Negroes have served on municipal boards and commissions as a sort of window dressing tokenism, but the Mayor of Indianapolis certainly did not expect that the Rev. Mr. Gerald Cunningham, one of his appointees to the Board of Safety would try to find out where the body was buried (that is about policy brutality).

His high degree of visibility should have been enough to show that the Mayor was concerned about his non-white constituents but the Rev. Mr. Cunningham had the tendency common to men of the cloth of sounding off from time to time (about the treatment of the sepi minority by the local gendarmes). The good Mayor did not like such insurrection and so The Rev. Mr. Cunningham had to go.

Now we know that Mr. Lugar as most white leaders before him is a devotee of the game of tokenism, while concentrating on bringing his city in line with the higher purposes of big business. It is a part of his cultural upbringing. Shall forgive him on the grounds that he knows not what he does?

Sunday School Lesson

by REV. J. T. HIGHBAUGH, SR.

Jesus - Madman or Messiah?

LESSON SCRIPTURE: Mark 3:20-27, 31-35. BACKGROUND SCRIPTURE: Mark 3:7-35. BIBLE TRUTH: Those who believe in Jesus cannot remain neutral in their stand for Him. BIBLE VERSE: Matthew 12:30. LESSON AIM: To help Christians see their need to stand up and be counted for Christ.

Those who remain neutral cannot be timid and hesitant in their stand for Him. Our lesson calls for a made up mind. So suppose we divide our discussion today as follows: I. Madman or Messiah?—Which? (Mark 3:20-27). II. A House Divided Against Itself Cannot Stand (Mark 3:22-27). III. The Family Small and Great (Mark 3:31-35).

MADMAN OR MESSIAH? There was an urgency and an immediacy which caught Peter's fancy to the extent that he lived it himself and wrote it out in his comments of Jesus' life. Our Lord was so afire with His Mission of Good News that even his friends thought him mad. The poet once said:

Lives of great men reached And kept were not Obtained by sudden flight But they while their companions Were struggling upward slept In the night.

For one who is really dedicated to his work demands come not from without, but from within. No one ever stood over Thomas Edison demanding that he work so many hours a week. But when he was on the track of a fresh discovery or invention, he would often forget to eat. He would stay in the laboratory for days, simply grabbing cat naps on a cot. He was a totally, dedicated person.

Luther Burbank was another such individual. He worked with tremendous perseverance, willing to labor for years and to sacrifice thousands of plants in order to get just the variety he was looking for. It is devotion like that which produces the great changes in the history of the world.

To develop this devotion to our duty we must find the great teacher in our lives by being truly surrendered to Jesus and let Him fully direct us to our life's work. I am certain everyone has such a call and such a life's work.

This is why we have our Moses, our Davids, our Pauls, our Stephens, our Martin Luthers, our George Washingtons, our George Washington Carvers, and our Martin Luthers Kings. They have: Something within them That holdeth the reins Something within them That banishes pain. Something within them I cannot explain All that I know There is something within.

Plainfield News

PLAINFIELD—The quarterly meeting services were held Sunday, Jan. 19, during the morning worship hour.

Rev. S.D. Hardrick, presiding elder, and Rev. C.W. Beadles, pastor, were in charge.

Reports on the past three months were read.

Sunday afternoon Bethel AME Church of Indianapolis and its pastor, Rev. J. Allen Parker, were present. Rev. V. White delivered a helpful and timely sermon. Two fine singing groups rendered uplifting music.

Mrs. G.E. Carbin was mistress-of-ceremonies. Remarks were made by Rev. Parker and Rev. Beadles. Mrs. Nancy Swann is president of the missionary society. The welcome address was delivered by Mrs. Charlotte Horne. Mrs. Rose Swann led the prayer. The scripture was read by Mrs. Nancy Swann.

Other members of the missionary group include Mrs. Russell Freeland and Mrs. Will Dunlap, secretary.

Mrs. Mary Watkins was hostess Friday night to the Home Economic Club. Mrs. Watkins is the safety leader this year.

and writers after receiving the award, Robinson, a 21-year-old Navy man, told of his first reaction when the fight was stopped.

"As soon as I saw him (the referee) looking at the cut over the Mexican guy's eye," the slender 5-foot-11 Robinson said, "I thought to myself, 'Damn, they're going to take it away from me. After all that work, they're going to take it away from me.' But what could I have done? Hit the referee?"

Robinson, of course didn't hit the referee that night in Mexico. He accepted the bitter verdict with a smile. While the predominantly Mexican crowd cut loose with whistles of disapproval, the American congratulated his opponent and refused to criticize the referee even when he learned he might not get the silver medal because of the controversial disqualification.

Robinson reported last week that his luck has improved since October.

For one thing, he finally got his silver medal — during an Amateur Athletic Union convention last November in Las Vegas, where he met Antonio Roldan, his rival in the Olympic final.

"We didn't talk about the fight," Robinson said. "He told me he was turning professional in February, and asked me if I was going to do the same. I told him yes, probably next April."

Robinson still hasn't answered all the letters and telegrams that have come to him since his Olympic disappointment.

The most unusual letter, he said, was from a former fighter who asked him to listen to his advice as a son would listen to a father.

"He told me I was a great amateur fighter but that I should get out of boxing now," Robinson said. "He told me how pro fighters get cheated out of their money."

Robinson, an E-3 (airman) at the Alameda (Calif.) Naval Air Station, has decided to disregard the advice and "try the pros" for two or three years. He'll fight as a lightweight.

In his Olympic final against Roldan, he looked good. He gave the Mexican a boxing lesson in the first round and had him on the verge on a knockout in the second before the bizarre ruling.

Evansville News

By CLEONA SCOTT

EVANSVILLE—The Senior Missionary Circle of Independence Baptist Church held a very successful program the past Sunday, having as their guest speaker Rev. H.E. Floyd, pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church.

The senior choir accompanied him. They sang until their hearts caught on fire. Rev. Floyd really preached to the Missionary a god inspiring sermon. He taken his text from the book of 2nd Samuel second chapter and the 21st verse. Mrs. Gertrude Brown is the president. Rev. M.H. Alston the pastor.

An Evansville postal official and an educator have been named to fill vacancies on the Evansville Housing Authority by the Mayor Frank McDonald. John Cable, 58, of 2801 Buchanan Road, customer relations representative for the Post office, was named to replace the Rev. M.H. Alston in a term expiring Sept. 8, 1970. The Rev. Mr. Alston resigned to join the authority staff. The board is also preparing for open house at the new George W. Buckner Towers senior citizens apartment project, from 2 to 4 p.m. Jan. 26. A brief ceremony will be followed by tours of apartments to be left vacant for the occasion.

Cable, an Evansville native, was in the last graduating class of the old Douglas High School here in 1928, and was graduated in 1934 from the old Indiana State Teachers College (now ISU). He was a substitute teacher and recreational worker before joining the Post Office in 1934.

He has held his present post for two years. Cable has been an active member of the (NAACP) for many years. He is an Army veteran of World War II, serving in the European Theater. He is married and the father of one son, Clarke of Indianapolis.

The Federated Women's Progressive Club held their first meeting of the year the past wee, with the newly installed President Mrs. Pauline Griffin presiding. Everyone was glad to be together again after the holidays. Everyone seem to report having a wonderful Christmas. Mrs. Griffin announced the different projects she hopes to accomplish in this year and all pledged to be right with her out of town ministers. Elder Raymond L. Raford is host pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Snorton, Jr. and children left the city Friday and will attend the inauguration ceremonies to be held in Washington D.C. An assistant to the Governor of Kentucky, Mr. Snorton handles the recruitment of Negroes for state jobs, and formerly was employed as agricultural instructor at Hopkinsville and Atchucks High Schools.

Miss Betty Joe Humphries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Humphries and SP-4 Marshall Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Gray were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony last week with Rev. G.L. Foston officiating. Miss Clara Humphries was her sister's maid of honor, and Larnell Brasher served Mr. Gray as best man. The reception was held in the dining room of Mt. Olive Baptist Church. Misses Yvonne Kendrick and Carolyn Taylor presided at the serving table, Miss Pamela Majors had charge of the gifts, and Miss Carolyn Brown kept the register.

Mrs. Frances Weston has returned to the city after visiting her granddaughter, Miss Audrey Nelson, who has been confined to the hospital in Junction City, Kansas.

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Linnie B. Buckner Jan. 9, at Virginia Street Baptist Church with her pastor, Rev. A.R. Lasley delivering the eulogy. Burial was in Cave Spring Cemetery with Babbage Funeral Home in charge. An active member of her church, the deceased was president of the Kings Sons and Daughters Club and a member of the Fidelity Bible Class. The survivors include her husband, Arthur Buckner; three brothers and two sisters.

The last rites were held for Mrs. Ella Sholar, 97-year old resident of Trigg County, at the

Ed Jones played jazz till 4 A.M. to get his B.A. Now his groove is managing 10 people at IBM.

Getting through college was quite a strain for Ed Jones. His family helped some. So did a scholarship. But it wasn't enough.

So Ed had to work—as a railroad crossing guard and playing bass in a jazz combo.

After he graduated from Howard University with a B.A. in Music Education, Ed taught music for a year. Then he joined the Count Basie band and played bass for nine years.

A manager in 5 years.

But the constant travel and one-night stands finally got to him. He heard that IBM was looking for college graduates, went for an interview and was hired in marketing as a systems engineer trainee in 1962. It was the first rung on the ladder.

Today, Ed is a systems engineering manager. He and the 10 systems engineers who work for him service IBM customers, helping them get the most efficient use out of their IBM computers.

What is the most gratifying thing about his job? "Watching people grow," he says. "Guiding them, helping them along. Like I was helped by my managers. I can't imagine a more satisfying job."

Tuning in on ANDERSON

By Madelyn Irvin — Phone 644-5179

ANDERSON—The Youth All-America Community Team met Sunday at Central Christian Church. YACT is a group open to all high school youths concerned with improving interracial relations at Anderson.

This was the third meeting of the youth counterpart to the All-America Community Team.

The group had a holiday party for all the children participating in the local Head-Start program.

Activities of a wide variety are designed to provide more concrete involvement for youth in the crucial areas of our time. All high school youths who wish to become involved are invited to meetings.

Officers of the board of directors of the Anderson Carnegie Public Library were elected for 1969 at the group's monthly board meeting.

They were: Robert Shearer, re-elected president; Mrs. Edward Foggs, vice president; Paul Newsome, treasurer; and Mrs. Elmer Richler, re-elected secretary. Other board members include Mrs. Erle Peck, Donald Bowen and W. Sherell Fox.

A teacher in the Anderson Head-Start program, Miss Mildred Young, recently completed a seven-week training session at Michigan State University designed to prepare teachers to better understand the preschool disadvantaged child.

The training session placed emphasis on the total child including his emotional, physical, social, psychological, intellectual and cultural growth.

The characteristics of the economically disadvantaged child were studied to enable teachers to do a more effective job of reaching the child.

Miss Young will conduct four workshops at New Hope United Methodist Church, 15th and Louise. All persons interested in nursery school education are invited to attend these meetings.

The four sessions will be from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on the following topics: 'Physical and Social Development of the Pre-School Child,' Jan. 30; 'Emotional and Cognitive Development of the Pre-School Child,' Jan. 27; 'Guidance and Discipline,' Feb. 3, and 'Self-Evaluation,' Feb. 10.

A graduate of Brescia College, Owensburg, Ky., Miss Young has worked with the Anderson Head-Start program since September, 1967.

Recent official ribbon cutting ceremonies launched the Anderson Urban League's new 'thrust' branch office. The project is designed to give black citizens a voice in planning their own destiny.

Part of a nation-wide Urban League effort, the new office will encourage black business provide a variety of special training programs, and work toward a solution to the hard-core unemployment problem.

Officiating at the opening ceremonies were William B. Harper, executive director of the Anderson Urban League; Rev. Edward L. Foggs, newly-elected president of the League; Zebdee Christian Sr., outgoing president, and Albert B. Simmons Jr., director of the branch office.

The Westside Community Center recently honored two local youth as girl and boy for the month of January. They were Miss Vickie Kirksey, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Kirksey, 2917 Louise, and Bruce Streety, grandson of Mrs. Earl Streety, 1420 Forkner.

The director and staff of the Center selected the pair on the basis of their conformity to the rules involving personality, creativity, and other worthwhile traits established by the Center.

A series of physical fitness training classes for adults began Tuesday night at the Westside Community Center, 1400 W. 14th, according to athletic director Thomas L. Criseman. Ladies are invited to the sessions to be held from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. A talent show and dance are scheduled at the Center Jan. 26 from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Final try-outs for the event will be given to those who want to participate.

Allen Chapel AME Church maintains an open door welcoming of all young people to attend the youth Christian training meeting every Sunday from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Mrs. Ollie Jane Weatherly, who is widely known for her service in local club work and civic organizations, is the supervisor. All mothers are invited to attend.

Mrs. Weatherly is working in conjunction with the president, Miss Patricia Irving Huggins, who is in charge of religious training among leaders of young people.

A film presentation of the work of the Community Action Council of Madison County (CACOMC) was narrated by Mrs. Hazel Boyd and Mrs. Josephine Hill at a recent luncheon meeting.

Mrs. Boyd is director of the Head-Start program which is under the Community Action Council. She stated that Anderson has 680 sub-standard housing units and that four percent of the population is functionally illiterate.

She explained that CACOMC sought to involve the community including the people to be served.

The Head-Start program served 235 children in the county with programs at Alexander and Elwood in addition to the year-round program at Anderson.

Mrs. Boyd reported that volunteers have traveled 3,000 miles to help transport the tots and 1,500 man hours have been donated.

Mothers are sole support of 40 percent of the children and 50 percent of the Head-Start children come from families with incomes $1,500 below the poverty line. No vaccination was received for 35 percent of the Head-Start children. The neighborhood worker for CACOMC makes contacts in a typical month concerning employment and training. Mrs. Boyd said the demand for low cost housing far exceeded the supply.

A local optometrist has volunteered his services for the children. Other professional people have also been enlisted to aid in health service to the children.

CACOMC seeks to serve as a catalyst mobilizing resources of existing agencies in the community. Mrs. Boyd said. They shall encourage to avail themselves of services such as the cooking offered by the Red Cross and to participate in Planned Parenthood which has provided a clinic for a nurse and doctor to see patients one evening a week after the CACOMC offices are closed.

The staff encourages the students to stay in high school and tries to give direction in financial problems. They have also assisted the Job Corps trainee in applying for jobs.

Mrs. Boyd stressed the importance of recruiting from the group being served and stated that 60 percent of the workers on the program were from this group.

Representatives of the state employment office and of the Job Corps unit at Camp Atterbury were introduced. Rev. Lloyd Lambert presided at the sessions for CACOMC representing the local agencies.

The ill in the community include Ray Taylor, Mrs. Lillian Kennedy, Mrs. Alvia Pettiford, Mrs. Minnie Odem, Mrs. Anna Glazebrooks, Mrs. Julia Thompson, Mrs. Betty Bell, Rev. James Minifie, Mrs. Pat Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davis, Willie Rice, Mrs. Matthe Mims, Ed Reid, Michael Lloyd, Quentin Patterson, Mrs. Doris Stean, Lee Brown, Mrs. Bernice Mitchell, Mrs. Katie Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, and Mrs. Bruetta Gholston.

Betty Ann Smith, 25, 2116 Louise, died in St. Johnson Hospital after an extended illness. She was born Sept. 8, 1943, at Anderson and was a life-time resident. She was a graduate of Anderson High School in 1967 and was a member of Wallace Temple AME Church.

Survivors include four sons, Randy, Terry, Tony, and Mickey, all at home; her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith of Anderson; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Shacklett, Anderson; five brothers, Ronald, Courtney, Gregory and Gus, all of Anderson; and Sgt. Henry Smith Jr. serving with the U.S. Air Force in Ft. Bragg, N.C.; two sisters, Priscilla Owenia and Sherl Ann Smith, all of Anderson, and several nieces and nephews.

Brooks Memorial Chapel was in charge. Rev. George Tate, pastor of Wallace Temple, officiated at the funeral. Burial was in East Maplewood Cemetery.

LOCAL MARINE MAJOR DON OGDEN NOW SERVING IN VIETNAM

VIETNAM (FHTNC) — Marine Major Don J. Ogden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F. Ogden of 2634 N. Station St., Indianapolis, Ind., is serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam. The First Marine Aircraft Wing is the air arm of the Third Marine Amphibious Force in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam. The wing operates several hundred aircraft which include fighter, attack, reconnaissance, helicopter and transport aircraft. In addition to providing aviation support noted of the Indianapolis Marine: "As non-commissioned officer in charge of the Marine Security Guard Detachment, let me assure you that I am pleased to have Sgt. Pannell as a member of our group."

"Although he is new here, he appears to be the type of Marine that will make an important contribution during his tour of duty and his efforts in helping to create among the people of Cyprus a favorable impression of the Marine Corps and of the American people will be a source of pride to you."

Master Sergeant Romanello noted that is his personal desire and official responsibility to concern himself with the day-by-day well-being of men in his charge and pledged to try to help each to derive the greatest possible benefit from his tour of duty with the foreign service of the U.S.

MRS. ESTHER SMITH

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural coloring it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde.

Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance. And hairdressers know there is no better product to add a whole new appeal to every woman's look than Miss Clairol® haircoloring—extra rich Creme Formula or new extra easy Shampoo Formula.

Both Miss Clairol products lighten and color at once, combining vibrant new color with the natural pigment of the hair. So even those shades that look blonde on white hair (as shown on most color selection charts) give a variety of flattering red-to-golden brown shades on women whose hair was black to begin with.

Beauty salons are equipped to answer questions and help with hair color selection. Depend on your hairdresser to have the professional skills and the total family of fine Clairol products to make every woman's experience with haircoloring completely personal and glamorous. Should you be a blonde? If you don't really know, ask your expert hairdresser.

scale, it has been increasing on a by leaps and bounds in recent months.

It has been reported that at least one well-known procurer who is alleged to have had several "girls" who operated in the "Strip" area now brings his girls to the Avenue nightly.

As prostitution continues to flourish, along the Avenue, the number of related street crimes, strong-arm robberies, muggings, larceny by trick, narcotics offenses, etc. have also been on the increase.

Although the regular police squad cars patrol the Avenue regularly, the specialized vice units are seldom observed on the Avenue after dark and the "girls," for the most part, practice their trade unmolested.

A check of police records covering the last six months did not show a single arrest for prostitution during that period in the Indiana Avenue area.

said, but he has often defended himself and other civil rights workers successfully.

"He knows the law and he lives the law," she added. "He just doesn't play tricks in the courtroom like the lawyers do." In Atlanta a spokesman for the leadership conference said that Mr. Bevel had acted on his own in sending the telegram. The spokesman said the organization would have no comment.

At a news conference, Bevel said "I have evidence that would free him. I won't discuss the specific evidence now because it wouldn't be beneficial to James Earl Ray. But he's not guilty."

In the telegram sent to the Shelby County Jail in Tennessee Mr. Bevel said:

"I wish to inform you that I would be very happy to take your case without fee. I was present on April 4 at the Lorraine Motel in Memphis when Dr. King died. You have been accused of murdering him. Of course, I know you are not guilty."

Miss Sterner said no reply had yet been received. Ray is scheduled to go on trial March 3. He dismissed his first lawyer, Arthur Haynes, who had handled the case since Ray was arrested last June in London, and hired instead Percy Foreman.

Mr. Bevel was one of several leadership conference officials who were with Dr. King when he was killed by a sniper at Memphis Motel.

They were in Memphis to support the demands of striking Negro garbage collectors.

Mr. Bevel, who has often acted as liaison between Dr. King and young Negro militants and white radicals was assigned here after last year's Poor People's Campaign in Washington to serve as director of non-violent education.

Wilbert L. Ford

Funeral services for Wilbert Lee Ford, age 37, 1122 Madelia, were held Saturday, Jan. 11 in the Willis Mortuary. The burial was in New Crown Cemetery. He died in General Hospital, Wednesday, Jan. 8.

He was a native and life-long resident of the city. He was employed 15 years by the Hygrade Meat Packing Co. and recently in maintenance at Barrington Heights Apts. He was a Korean War veteran and a member of Bethany Baptist Church.

Survivors include five brothers, Theodore Ford; John Gene, Clifton city, and Philip Frierson, U.S. Army in Japan and three sisters, Miss Elizabeth Frierson, Mrs. May Anderson and Mrs. Delores Kermer, city.

Wide-spread racial bias, report in New York City

NEW YORK — The Special Committee on Racial and Religious Prejudice created by Mayor John V. Lindsay to investigate racism and anti-Semitism stemming from the city school dispute, last weekend reported, "an appalling amount of racial prejudice, . . . black and white."

Evidence was found "over and over again, . . . of vicious anti-white attitudes and on the other hand of vicious anti-black attitudes."

According to the statement, "the anti-white prejudice has a dangerous component of anti-Semitism. Black leaders sincerely tend to regard this anti-Semitism as relatively unimportant in the school controversy since in their struggle for emergence their preoccupation is with discrimination — notably in education, employment and housing — and not with defamation, oral or written."

Jews, in turn, are outraged by anti-Semitic defamation itself, fearful that such apparent indifference may spark violence and other forms of anti-Semitism well beyond defamatory expressions."

The committee, headed by former presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, Bernard Botel, based its statement on a five-week study of manifestations of racial and religious bigotry in the school dispute. The members of the committee were Robert L. Carter, civil rights attorney; David Dubinsky, honorary president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union; the Very Rev. Leo McLaughlin, S.J., recently retired president of Fordham University; representing Dr. McLaughlin at times, Joseph P. Fitzpatrick, S.J., professor of sociology, Fordham University; Dr. David G. Salten, executive vice president, Federation of Jewish Philanthropies; Matilde Perez De Silva, consultant, social services, Migration Division, Commonwealth of Puerto Rico; Whitney North Seymour, Sr., former president of the Association of the Bar and the American Bar Association; Jack D. Weller, realtor and community leader; Franklin H. Williams, director, The Urban Center, Columbia University. throw in front of them.

The 380 black elected officials were told by the more experienced black politicians and leaders that now is certainly not the time to rejoice or start to get tipsy on just a taste of power.

Rather, said the wisest leaders among them, now is the time to grid more strongly than ever against newly-braced white resistance.

Youthful Julian Bond, whose name was put in nomination for vice president at the Democratic National Convention, told the black assemblage that they must not make the mistake of thinking that the incoming administration should help them.

He said the new administration "is being formed by a man whom 90 percent of you voted against last November."

Samuel Dubois Cook, a black professor of political science at Duke University, told the group that consistently through the history of the South — from the Civil War through Reconstruction, Populism, the Dixiecrat movement, and the Wallace Syndrome, "there has run the theme that the white man has fear of the Negro and in self-survival and defense he has to control him."

Typical of the problems and experiences of many of these newly elected black officials is that of Councilman Peter Smith who lives in the little town of Grand Coteau in south central Louisiana.

It is because of the problems and experiences of all black leaders, who to some extent suffer similarly, that the Voter Education Project is placing into operation this month in several predominantly Negro colleges in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Peter Smith has lived in Grand Coteau all of his 38 years. And for all his life there have been few paved streets, no sewage system, and a water system which often needed repairs and had to be shut off leaving no water in the pipes for as much as four days at a time.

This, needless to say, was a handicap to the residents of the semi-rural town, most of whose residents were in the low-income class. The lack of services hurt both black and white but in the past the five all-white council members simply met, arranged for the minimum repairs and paid the bill, adjourning to meet again in a couple of weeks.

Now Smith and two other Negroes control the council and they have decided to better the municipal services. They hired a trained engineer and called in some experts—even some from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. (HUD).

They submitted plans to pave the streets, put in a good sewer system and re-pipe the water system. They asked HUD to defray a portion of the expenses.

Smith says HUD told the council that there was money available for bigger cities but very little for smaller towns. Smith and the other two Negro councilmen have been waiting three years for action.

What Burns Smith up most is that the city of Lafayette, 12 miles away had little trouble in getting a $55,000 grant to air-condition the city's buses.

Blotter

against a 27-year-old man spotted by police early Tuesday morning at 29th and Delaware. He was identified as Charles Jennings, 606 W. 30th.

Police stopped the subject as he walked near the intersection and discovered a 'cane' he was carrying was actually a concealed sword approximately 25' long.

A further search of Jennings produced an envelope containing a substance believed to be marijuana, six pills, a 'totacco mixture,' and some olive oil, among other things, police said.

Arresting officers said Jennings struggled with them when stopped around midnight giving rise to an additional charge of being a disorderly person.

A 16-year-old girl, victim of a rape attempt, told police she was beaten with a coat hanger by her assailants. She reported a man, promising to drive her to her place of employment around 4 p.m. Friday, stopped at the home of a "friend" on 21st Street.

Once inside he ripped her clothing and made advances on her. When she spured them she was beaten about the chest, mouth and head with a hanger by the two men. She was freed when an unidentified woman at the house came to her aid.

No suspects were apprehended at the time of her questioning.

A 42-year-old Lockfield resident reported being raped early Saturday morning as she walked near her home.

She said her attacker, about 25 and wearing a trench coat, knocked her to the ground and assaulted her before fleeing on foot.

Another woman suffered a broken jaw, two black eyes along with cuts and bruises when she fell prey to two robbers early Saturday morning at 24th and Illinois.

Miss Adgie Smith, 52, 2032 Ruckle, lost her wallet containing $18 to two youths, around 20, when they knocked her to the pavement. She was struck repeatedly in the face.

Nominee for judge files expense report

The Democratic candidate (nominee) for Marion County Juvenile Court Judge in the last general election, Attorney Theodore D. Wilson, on filing a report on campaign expenditures reported a balanced sheet.

Contributions were received from supporters and well-wishers over the city, county and from elsewhere of both major political persuasions and all racial backgrounds. The nominee received in contributions a total of $5,923. 86 and disbursements were of a like amount.

Mr. Wilson, former Indiana Assistant Attorney General, announced last week his return to private law practice with the firm of Wilson & Kern, 1620 N. Meridian St.

Mr. Wilson waged an exceptionally strong campaign against his four-term, Republican opponent, Judge Harold N. Fields. He observed that he intends to continue, as a private citizen, his election drive to secure "fair and equitable Black representation on Judge Fields' all-white Juvenile Court Advisory Council."

During the campaign Wilson repeatedly scored Judge Fields and the council for the fact that the group lacked the presence of "single Black face on it." He declared that it was "utterly impossible" for such a segregated body to "relate meaningfully" to Black youngsters and their problems.

Frontier Club sponsors Negro History project

Observing Negro History Week, in February, the local chapter, Frontiers Service Clubs, Inc., will present an educational program emphasizing the heritage of the Negro in America.

Steve Scott, WFBM-TV commentator and a member of the Frontiers Club is program chairman. Dr. Frank Chowning is president of the local club.

Other chairmen include: Thomas Combs Jr., a consultant with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., Honor Day at Attucks High School; Eldridge Morrison, special fund raising projects and Merritt Pace, Boy Scouts executive, Courtesy Week.

Dr. Joseph Taylor, dean of Indiana University Indianapolis Division, has been named to prepare guidelines for a Frontier community project, encouraging young people to continue their educational efforts.

The president of the local chapter of the National Business League, Andrew Foster and Ron Johnson of the Urban League were members of a panel that discussed the potential of Negro business at the recent monthly meeting of the Frontier Club.

Negro vote important to Dems

WASHINGTON—If the Democratic Party is to rebuild and come into prominence again, it must depend heavily on new Negro voting strength.

This is the contention of Senator Harris of Oklahoma, newly elected chairman of the Democratic National Committee who believes the decisive point in the party's reconstruction will be the South.

It is in the South, he pointed out that blacks are being added to the registration rolls at a swift rate and the Negro vote is usually heavily Democratic.

Southern Democrats must also start adhering to positions of the national party, he added.

"In the first place, why should the South be all that different from the North," Harris asked.

This apparently was in reference to the conservative stand some "Dixiecrats" take toward certain liberal policies of the party.

He indicated he is relying on Negro voting strength to break the back of such opposition.

Nelson Smith

Funeral services for Nelson Smith, age 65, 4011 Graceland Ave., were held in the Willis Mortuary, Monday, Jan. 13. The burial was in Floral Park Cemetery. He died in Winona Hospital, Wednesday, Jan. 8.

He was born in Springfield, Tenn. and had lived here 35 years. He retired in 1967 and formerly was employed 10 years at the Indianapolis Home for the Aged and as a stockman at O'Banion's Chicken Shack. He was a charter member of the Gay Caballeros Club.

Survivors include a nephew, Roy Smith and two brothers, Ben and Eugene Smith, both of Gary, Ind.

Black priest blasts Chicago Archbishop

CHICAGO — In a departure from his usual conservative carriage, the only Negro pastor in the Chicago Roman Catholic Archdiocese lashed out at his local superior labeling him a "racist."

The denunciation of Archbishop John Cardinal Cody came from Rev. Rollins Lambert. The apparently miffed Rev. Lambert was highly critical of his assignment to an all-Negro church.

Describing his assignment as a "political move," he said Cody and the whole white church "the whole white church" was "unconsciously racist."

He said that if Father Clements was not made a pastor immediately "and if black pastors are not appointed in black parishes whenever possible, I will not continue to serve as pastor of St. Dorothy's Church."

Prior to his strong denunciation, Father Lambert had been labeled a "pawn of Cardinal Cody" and an "Uncle Tom" by militants for accepting the position.

Topics of mutual interest discussed included, realtor-broker cooperation and opportunities in the real estate field for Negro persons.

Under the name of Central City Real Estate Board, the Indianapolis Real Estate Brokers Assn. was founded in 1952, the name of the organization was changed to the latter title recently.

The Indianapolis Real Estate Board was founded in 1912 and was until 1964 and all-white brokers organization. Its present membership totals more than 500 persons. The meeting of the officials of the two groups mainly concerned opening lines of communication benefitting the business and the public to be served.

great; but we are not so utterly cast down as to run away from a fight for our rights as men among men.

The NAACP leader re-iterated his 1966 position that "the unfortunate term, Black Power" may be a "rousing rallying cry." Nevertheless, "by hanging an ethnic tag to the power every man and group seeks" it is "bad strategy, a provocation that manufactures additional trouble for a people having more than their share."

The desire to develop group power, he added, "is perfectly understandable and perfectly legitimate. The three basic ingredients, political power, economic power and race pride have long been goals of the Negro American community. Its banks and savings and loan associations and its scattered businesses all testify to the recognition of the need."

racist."

Father Lambert, recently named to head the parish at all-black St. Dorothy's Church, made his views known during a press conference in the auditorium of the church. Various Negro leaders, including some militants participated.

Baring his dislike of the position, he said he saw no reason why Rev. George H. Clements, a militant black priest who had served six years as assistant pastor of St. Dorothy's was not named pastor upon the retirement of the Rev. Gerald P. Scanlan, a white priest whom Father Lambert succeeded.

He said that if Father Clements was not made a pastor immediately "and if black pastors are not appointed in black parishes whenever possible, I will not continue to serve as pastor of St. Dorothy's Church."

Prior to his strong denunciation, Father Lambert had been labeled a "pawn of Cardinal Cody" and an "Uncle Tom" by militants for accepting the position.

their posts to the upsurge at the polls.

"There was a time when Negro candidates were harassed, intimidated and threatened with violence," Mr. Patton said. "But today, this seems to be almost a thing of the past" with the exceptions of certain "very remote rural areas of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Carolina."

In fostering its 1966 registration campaign, it is estimated that the NAACP used well over 8 million pieces of literature. Some of the brochures were so effective in their presentation that labor unions and both civic and religious groups used the materials. In at least one instance, that of New York City, the municipal administration requested quantities of bumper stickers prepared by the NAACP.

be taken," he said.

Mayor Lugar, chief backer of the legislation, has done nothing to allay the fears of those whose main opposition lies in possibility of district gerrymandering.

No specific district boundaries or even proposed boundaries were included in the 167 page bill that was introduced to the legislature.

Another opponent of the bill in voicing his concern of the proposal emphasized that if the mayor expects to gain Negro support for the "Unigov" legislation he must at least set out proposed district boundaries.

Marion County Democrats are also vehemently opposed to "unigov" labeling it a power grab measure designed to insure Republican control of the states largest city for years to come.

Marion County Democratic chairman James Beatty has called Mayor Lugar's plan a "sell out of the people who elected him," in announcing that he would fight the measure all the way to the state supreme court.

Black youth begins his training as apprentice

When Wesley Wade Grimes Jr., a January graduate of Arsenal Technical High School, went to work Jan. 21 hopefully it was the beginning of many new, yet rewarding experiences. He began his tenure as a sheet metal apprentice. The only difference is that Wesley is black.

Wesley has found that many people have been genuinely interested in his success. There was Bill McFadden of the bureau of apprenticeship and training who took time to go to several high schools to encourage graduates to consider apprenticeship openings.

There was Mrs. Rosa Lee Brown of the Indianapolis Urban League who on several occasions went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Grimes to discuss Wesley's future and encourage him not to turn back simply because he was first.

Finally there was the Citizens for Progress Committee, Inc., which came to the rescue when Wesley, from a family of limited means, found out that before he could begin his training and receive his first paycheck that he would have to pay union dues, school enrollment fees and buy his books.

CPC Inc., is a non-profit service group of black men who have organized to help broaden the environmental horizons of underprivileged children in order that they might enjoy a Pacer game.

Fuller Jones, president of CPC Inc., said in announcing the scholarship to Wesley, that when it appears that all young people are not bad, they would like to point out that all young people are not bad, they would like to point out that all young people are not bad, but attempting to do things right.

Persons interested in purchasing tickets to the Pacer-Oaks game should contact Fuller Jones, 637-1350.

New corporation will assist black contractors in projects

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — The Negro contractor has been denied the right to bid on Federal, state and municipal construction contracts. There is no doubt that Negro contractors were ever considered to the point that they were informed of future building projects where Federal funds were involved.

There has been little, if any, consideration given to allowing Negro construction contractors to build in the ghetto areas on any phase of urban renewal or rehabilitation. There is no specific mention of Negro or minority group contractors in the Model Cities Labor Agreement.

The program of the NAACP is to solidify the position of Negro contractors by bringing them together into an association that will give them the financial ability to be bonded in order to qualify to bid on all jobs, especially those where Federal, state and/or municipal funds are involved.

To do this, Negro contractors must pool all of their assets and know-how, and together, form permanent and project corporations and be able to perform, meet material costs, payrolls, hire the necessary people (estimators, architects and attorneys) to perform needed services.

They must be aware of all projects on the drawing boards in their respective areas and be prepared to bid and perform on same. They must have knowledge of all Federal and state projects allocated to different regions. In order to do this there must be a central clearing house where all labor reports are available to each contractor.

They should be informed as to the details and procedures involved in bonding as well as information and construction labor. They must become acquainted with apprentice programs and regulations governing same.

This Corporation has now been formed and will be called the AFRO-AMERICAN BUILDERS CORPORATION. Tentative offices will be located at 5150 Walnut Street in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This address will serve as our National Headquarters with affiliates in: Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, New Jersey, Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina, Ohio, Massachusetts and Washington, D.C. Ten other states will form affiliates within the next three (3) months.

Robert Jenkins of 1816 Broadway, Gary, Ind., is president of the Corporation. Charles E. Stafford of 111 S. Cherry, South Bend, Ind., is a vice-president.

Each area must maintain an office with a paid staff in order to keep up with correspondence and to organize a library where specifications and other materials relative to the whole procedure of bids and bidding will be available.

The corporation must be put on the Bid List of all government agencies — Corps of Engineers, AEC, Navy, FHA, HUD, Post Office, GSA — and all state agencies having jurisdiction over building of all types — heavy and highway, commercial and housing, as well as all other types of developments.

The government has long denied the Negro his share of the monies supposedly allocated to correct his economic situation. The Negro can rebuild the ghetto or build a dam. He can build the Post Office building or the hospital. The Negro can train his own young men with or without assistance.

The Negro contractor will hire the man to do the job. He will motivate not only his own son, but will help to create a new economic structure within his own community that will bring to the Negro family a standard of living equal to any in this country. The Negro contractor must share in the wealth that he has so long helped others to gain, not as a contractor, but as an employee, when he was lucky.

It may be necessary to institute court proceedings to guarantee the NAACP's position of equal rights for Negro construction contractors. The NAACP is prepared to institute such proceedings when

Gas & Coke utility officers are named

Richard B. DeMars, president, Carl M. Geupel Construction Co., Inc., was elected president of the board of directors for Citizen Gas & Coke Utility this week.

Other officers elected are: William J. Sullivan, president, The State Life Insurance Co., as vice-president of the board, William R. Spurling, retired Eli Lilly and Co. executive, secretary, and Robert E. Houk, partner, F.C. Tucker Company, treasurer. DeMars, Sullivan and William J. Stout, executive vice-president, L. S. Ayres & Company of Indiana, immediate past president of the utility board of directors, were elected to the executive committee. Stout will serve as chairman of the executive committee.
